KINGSTON SCHOOLS SCORE AVERAGE OF 50.686 IN STATE PHYSICAL TESTS

High School Girls Do Better Than Was Predicted, Averaging 50.082, Making High School's Average 53.623—Senior Girls Least Athletic.

The following report on the girls' scoring completes the city scoring in the physical ability test. The girls of the school made a higher score than was predicted, getting an average of 50.082. Although this is a comparatively good score, it is somewhat lower than that made by the boys, and brings the school score down a bit. Striking the difference between the boys' score of 57.164 and the girls' score given above, that of the school is found to be 53.623. The score of the senior girls is what rolled down the school record. As it is, however, the local school stands a chance of winning a good place in the state unless other schools have improved in their work proportionately with Kingston.

The entire system of schools of Kingston has a score of 50.686, the boys making 52.382 and the girls 48.991.

Articles Made by the Blind to be Sold Here Beginning Next Monday

Church Women of All Denominations to be in Charge at 774 Broadway—Kingstonians Among Those Benefited by Work of State Commission.

It would seem almost to be worth while losing one's sight to be able to get the whole hearted cooperation and interest of some forty-odd women of all the Catholic, Hebrew and various denominations of the Protestant Churches, as was done on Thursday afternoon at the Kingston City Library, this city. The meeting had been called in the interest of a coming sale of articles made by the blind people of this State to be held in this city all of next week, and was entirely presided over by Mr. O'Neil, partially blind, and Mr. Frost, quite blind, both of the State Commission for the Blind.

After calling the meeting to order, Mr. O'Neil told what this State is doing for its blind people. It is beginning at the bottom and doing all possible to prevent people from becoming either partially of totally blind It has been learned that about 50 percent of the cases of defective vision or eye trouble if taken early enough may be saved from total blindness. There are now some twelve or fifteen agents in the State investigating just such cases of eye trouble with this end of view. Mr. O'Neil alone has taken 33 such cases to the Albany City Hospital for medical treatment and 80 percent have been saved a useful degree of vision. Then the state is looking out for the education of blind children and blind adults as well. Children found in the schools of the state whose eyesight is not good enough for them to keep up in their work, are enabled to go to the State School for the blind at Batavia, where in addition to grade work and high school work they are either prepared for college or vocational work, so that they may wholly or in part support themselves. Then there is the readjusting of those newly become blind, so that instead of becoming what Mr. O'Neil called "Rocking Chair Artists," they learn to do things that are worth while. Sales are conducted through churches to avoid keeping from the blind the commissions the stores must necessarily charge.

As an illustration of what can be done by blind people, Mr. O'Neil spoke of Miss Garce Keator of this city, who is now an accomplished dictographer and stenographer for the State Association in New York City and who was a classmate of Mr. O'Neil. Then Mr. Thomas, successful piano merchant, was given special mention as another man apparently not handicapped by his blindness.

Mr. Frost was then introduced and in an exceptionally pleasant voice said that Mr. O'Neil had not told half of the good work he had been doing in the State. After telling of successful sales in Albany and other places, Mr. Frost made it clear that these sales were no charity. The blind people by their good work earn all they get, their wages running as high as $20 to $32 a week. The workers are paid by the piece and as soon as they have learned to make the articles, the state assumes the responsibility of selling all the articles they can produce. Mr. Frost also spoke of the care of blind babies in which the women of Kingston have already been interested.

Then Mr. Frost acting as temporary chairman helped the women present to organize for the sale in Kingston. The Misses Murphy had already most generously offered the use of their store, 774 Broadway for the entire sale. This store is on that short block between Albany avenue and St. James street, a very desirable place. Mrs. W. N. Fessenden was chosen general chairman, Mrs. G. N. Wood, general treasurer and Mrs. Thomas Hayes, to take full charge of the store.

The sales will begin Monday morning and will daily continue from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. and until 10 o'clock Saturday evening. On Monday the ladies of the three Reformed Churches will have charge of the sale. On Tuesday the ladies of the three Methodist Churches will be in charge. The women of the Episcopal Churches will be in charge on Wednesday and on Thursday the Roman Catholic Churches will have their women selling the articles. On Friday the women of the two Presbyterian Churches will be the saleswomen from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. and from 6 to 8 p. m., while the Jewish women will be in charge from 2 to 6 p. m. Saturday will be equally divided between the ladies of the Baptist Churches and the Lutheran Churches, the Baptist women being in charge from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. and the Lutheran women from 4 to 10 p. m.

The various churches were represented at the meeting by the following women St. James M. E., Miss Brewster; First Reformed, Mrs. W. N. Fessenden; First Presbyterian, Mrs. Dederick; Albany Avenue Baptist, Mrs. E. P. Snyder; Spring Street Lutheran, Mrs. Peter Kullman; English Lutheran, Mrs. W. J. Nelson; Rondout Presbyterian, Mrs. C. R. Ellis; Temple Emanuel, Mrs. Vogel for Mrs. Marblestone; St. Peter's Roman Catholic, Mrs. Peter Fox; Holy Spirit P. E., Mrs. G. N. Wood; Clinton Avenue M. E., Mrs. Cranston; St. Mary's Roman Catholic, Mrs. Thomas Hickey; Trinity M. E., Mrs. M. E. Eldridge; St. John's and Holy Cross, P. E., Mrs. Edwards for Mrs Knapp; Fair Street Reformed, Mrs. Fred Roosa; Wurts Street Baptist, Mrs. C. E. Powell; St. Joseph's Roman Catholic, Mrs. Thomas Hayes.

After giving final instructions as to just how to manage the sale, Mr. Frost told of a Kingston woman, found to be blind, ill with Bright's disease and receiving only her husband's compensation of $5.19 a week. The state had succeeded in getting her into a home where she was being well cared for but the cost was $8 a week. The extra amount had by special effort been secured for one year which time expires in August. Some way must be devised to carry on this aid and Mr. Frost said it would be in some way, but he offered to the women of Kingston the opportunity of securing this help for their townswoman, either by holding a food sale each day, or by securing small contributions, etc. The women themselves voted to hold the daily food sale in connection with the other sale or to plan some other means of raising money as suggested. The amount needed to be raised for another year would be only $156.

The store at 774 Broadway will be open for business on Monday morning next at 10 o'clock and the people of Kingston are urged to give the store their most generous patronage.

The managers of all of the motion picture theatres have kindly consented to run slides telling of this sale.

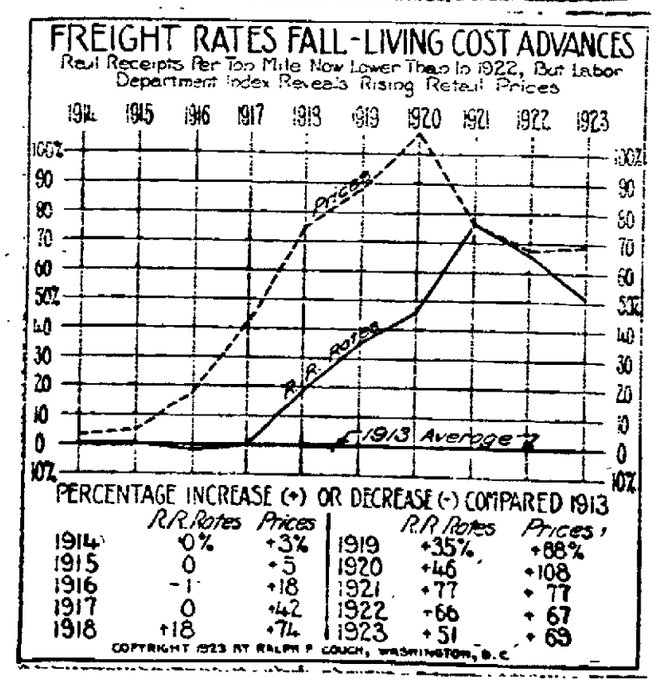
BUSINESS DAY by DAY as the Government sees it

PREPARED BY RALPH F. COUCH



NO ACTION YET ON REPEALER

Governor Has Until Tomorrow Night to Weigh "Wet" and "Dry" Arguments and His Future Political Fortunes.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., June 1.—With the eyes of the nation turned toward Albany today, Governor Alfred E. Smith is preparing to either sign or veto the Cuvillier bill to repeal the Mullan-Gage state prohibition enforcement law.

The governor today said that he "might clean up his work in a few hours or it might take until tomorrow." Beyond this he was non-committal.

If the governor approves the bill it means New York state will be the first in the union to withdraw its support of the enforcement of the federal prohibition law.

If the bill is vetoed the situation, so far as the enforcement of prohibition by the state is concerned, will continue in its present status.

If the governor does not act today or tonight on the repealer he must tomorrow, because the 30-day period expires at midnight Sunday and he cannot act on a measure on Sunday.

TROLLEY MAIL SERVICE CEASES

Commencing this morning the work of carting the mail bags between the uptown and downtown substations to the central post office by trolley car was stopped, and the work is being done by motor truck instead. The job of hauling the mail is being done temporarily by Peter L. Bonesteel until the contract is awarded by the federal post office department.

ARRAS KIWANIS INT'L PRESIDENT

The Kiwanis Club International, in convention at Atlanta, Ga., Thursday, elected Edmund F. Arras of Columbus, Ohio, international president over Elwood J. Turner. Denver was given the 1924 international convention.

BLOOMER GIRLS HERE TOMORROW

Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Fair Grounds the Bloomer Girls of Little Falls play the Colonials.

50TH ANNIVERSARY OF LAYING OF CORNER STONE

Sunday At The Rondout Presbyterian Church.

The 50th anniversary of the laying of the corner stone of the Rondout Presbyterian Church will be commemorated on Sunday morning June 3. All those who were present at the laying of the stone are invited to be present. Henry Otis, the contractor, will be in attendance. There will be special commemorative service and reminiscences by those who took part in the original service.

FAIR GROUND DIRECTORS MEETING WITH COLONIALS.

The directors of the Fair Ground Association are meeting with the Colonial management this afternoon to perfect plans for improving the grounds.

Stolen Car Found.

Thursday evening Chris Schleede of No. 104 Abruyn street reported to police headquarters that his Ford runabout had been stolen from the corner of Mill and Ann streets where he had parked it. A short time later the car was found by Policeman Martin on lower Hasbrouck avenue, near the Strand and Mr. Schleede was notified.

Charged With Speeding.

Only one arrest was made by the police Thursday afternoon, that of Harold Post of 326 Washington avenue, charged with speeding on Broadway. The arrest was made by Officer Soper. Post gave bail for his appearance later in police court.

Opening of the Irvington.

Found a Stray Horse.

This morning about 4 o'clock Officer Van Buren found a horse wandering the streets and placed it in Palen's livery stable.

Dance at St. Remy.

The regular Friday night dance will be held at Red Men's Hall, St. Remy, this evening.

ASHOKAN DAMAGE COMMISSION NO. 5 FILES ITS SIXTH SEPARATE REPORT

Claims of Many Owners of Land Bordering on Lower Esopus For Indirect Damages Rejected—Almost None of Awards Made Exceed Few Hundred Dollars.

William H. Murray of Troy, Andrew Sheridan of New York city and Joseph J. McGrath of Phoenicia, comprising Ashokan Damage Commission No. 5, today filed their sixth separate report in the Ulster county clerk's office.

Many cases were dismissed by the commission, including claims for indirect damages to land not taken for the reservoir or aqueduct, but in most cases consisting of land bordering on the Esopus creek, which was claimed to have sustained damage by reason of the diversion of the flow of the Esopus creek through construction of the Ashokan reservoir; and a number of claims for damages to established businesses also were dismissed.

In cases where an award was made for damages to land, the commissioners also awarded counsel fee, amounting to five per cent of the amount of the award, and made an allowance to the claimant for expenses and disbursements incurred by him. In cases where an award is made for damage to an established business, there is no such allowance, which is made by the court when the report is confirmed.

In all the cases the city of New York was represented by John P. O'Brien, corporation counsel, and William H. Grogan, the local counsel.

The cases disposed of by the commission's report are as follows:

WILBUR LOST TO NEW PALTZ 12 TO 8

Wednesday afternoon the Wilbur baseball team was defeated by the New Paltz nine at the latter's field by a 12 to 8 score. Wilbur was far behind up until the seventh inning when they staged a rally, scoring seven runs.

Next Sunday at the Wilbur grounds the Kelly All Stars and Wilbur will play the second game of their series. The Kelly aggregation holds a win over the Wilbur team. The game will be called at 3 o'clock.

LOCAL HIGH TEAM AT SAUGERTIES SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon the varsity baseball team of K. H. S. travels to Saugerties to again engage the team of the high school. Last Saturday the locals won against the Saugerties High team in a five and a half inning game, 15-0. Just what will happen this Saturday is not much in doubt. Kingston is getting in shape for Newburgh now. The game between the Hilly City boys and the locals will come off next week here.

BLUE MOUNTAIN.

Blue Mountain, May 31.—Mrs. William Metger of Brooklyn has arrived at her summer home in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Freligh of Saugerties spent an evening recently with her parents in this place.

Taken Ill At Point.

Miss Elizabeth Robinson of Patterson, N. J., was taken ill at Kingston Point Park Thursday afternoon while waiting the arrival of the Hudson River Day Line steamer. Officer Alcy, on duty at the park, called for the ambulance and she was removed to the Kingston City Hospital. It was said that she was subject to sick spells and her condition was not serious.

Didn't Dance.

The announcement of the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Finch which appeared in your paper May 21 was a misrepresentation in regard to the dancing, as there was not any dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. MELVIN FINCH.

ANDERSON AND LONG RUN TRUE TO TYPE

Former Is Not a Preacher, Says Dr. Grinton.

June 1, 1923.

Editor, The Freeman:

I was greatly pleased with your commendation of the Hon. Lincoln R. Long, who has represented Delaware county so ably in the assembly for five years.

Perhaps it would interest you, if I define the status of these two men, both Methodists.

Mr. Long is a located minister, that is to say, at his own request a few years ago, he relinquished his membership in the New York Conference, and became a local elder, as such he may exercise as the functions of a minister, but has no vote in the conference. In short he is a lay preacher.

At present he is supplying the Lexington charge. Last winter he supplied with great acceptability the Pine Hill charge.

W. H. Anderson is a member of the Central Methodist Episcopal Church of Yonkers. He is a layman, not a preacher. After all both run true to type, and this is what makes this old world interesting.

Yours truly,

G. W. GRINTON.

Food Sale Tomorrow.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Fair Street Reformed Church will hold a food sale at the Rose-Gorman-Roe store Saturday afternoon, June 2, from 2 to 5 o'clock.

A Velie Sale.

Walter S. Darling the local distributor for the Velie car has sold a touring car to B. J. Ahearn of this city.

The Weakest Link.

The victory of August 8, 1918, which Ludendorff confesses was the most smashing blow he ever received, owed its success to surprise. It was all important the Germans should not suspect that an attack was to be made and it was hoped they would think the southward movement of our troops was just to relieve French divisions. In the early hours of August 4 the enemy raided three posts on our new front at Hourges and secured a prisoner. He was an Australian. What he said made the enemy sure that the extension of our front was just to set free French troops. Another instance of the loyalty which made the surprise possible is the story of two runners making their way down the line the night before the battle. They suddenly came on a long line of tanks. "Goodness," exclaimed the one, "just look at that." "Sh," said the other, putting his finger to his lips. "I guess there's a raid on." This story occurs in "Sir Douglas Haig's Command." How many lives depended on the loyalty of that Australian prisoner!—London Times.

MR. VAN WESTRUM SAYS---

I have sold to home builders in Kingston more than two thirds of my property on Albany avenue and which is legally christened the

Westrum Addition

To the city of Kingston. It is gratifying to me to know that some of the best people in the city have purchased lots in this beautiful addition.

Within a very few days I shall have in my office at 253 Wall street (Corner Wall and Main Streets) a complete pictorial assortment of bungalows from which the home builder can select the style of home that he wishes to build. In connection with this I will have figures giving costs, etc., and other valuable information relative to the building of homes. It is my plan to aid in every way possible the people who wish to own a home and at the least cost possible. Everybody that knows how and at what price I am selling the Westrum Addition that I am giving the greatest value for the price that has ever been offered the people in this city in real estate.

One thing has been notable about the sale of the

Westrum Addition

The first buyers of lots have been busy getting their friends to buy and so the addition may well be called the "Friendship Addition." For this reason more than anything else I called the auction off and am continuing to sell privately. This is in accord with the expressed wishes of the present owners. I have a few very select lots left and all I ask any one desiring property on Albany avenue is that he come or telephone 1877 and have me send for him and his wife that he may look over this wonderfully fine addition and judge for himself whether it is the place for him to have a home. Don't wait too long. I will be delighted to talk to you and you are under no obligation to buy. Just come and see. The prices are marked on each lot. Pull the tag, sign it and pay twenty per cent down and small payments monthly. No interest and no taxes for two years.

Help me make Westrum Addition the beauty spot of Kingston. It is the pride of my heart and it will be your home of happiness.

The third annual reunion of the Merwin family of Hensonville was held on Decoration Day, 1923, at Merritt's Grove near that village. The weather and surroundings were all that could be desired. The group numbered over forty, including a few invited guests, and the Mervin, Griffen Scribner, Ashley and Cook families were all well represented, as well as their offspring of the second and third generations. The progenitor of this prolific family settled in this country near to the middle of the 17th century, about forty years preceding the Revolutionary War. After partaking of a bountiful and substantial dinner all retired to the platform stand, where they listened to short talks by various members of the family, running all the way from suggestions for incorporation to congratulations sent to the latest acquisition for membership, the good stork having dropped down Frank Van Loan's chimney at Hensonville about a week ago a possible presidential candidate for 1972. All were in a merry mood and indulged in humorous anecdotes and jokes that left a pleasant impression on the happy group as they departed for their homes after spending "a perfect day

The Reformed Church Sunday School will meet in the auditorium of the church next Sunday at 9:30 a m The change of time was thought necessary in order to have more time to practice the music for Children's Day.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 1, 1923.

A VALUABLE "ACCIDENT."

In fighting tuberculosis, science long ago discovered that milk was one of the most dangerous and insidious agents for communicating the disease. The tubercular germ was found to exist in cows to an extent far more serious than was first thought possible, and was transmitted through the milk to many thousands of people whose power of resistance finally became weakened through constant and continued use of this daily food. The state having wisely decided that part of the duty of government to its citizens was to stamp out the white plague, thereupon began the slaughter, under state supervision, of tubercular cattle.

Heretofore there have been only haphazard efforts on the part of the state to prevent tuberculosis making further inroads on human beings through the transmission of the disease from cattle. The state each year has sent out inspectors to examine cattle for signs of tuberculosis, and infected cows have been killed. The cows were paid for by the state, but nothing else was done to prevent uninfected cattle from contracting the disease, and about all the state did was to buy sick cows.

The "accredited herd" policy now being followed by the state department of farms and markets will not cost any more money than the old plan and it will produce results. The policy is clearly stated by Commissioner Pyrke of the department of farms and markets in one sentence: "The basic thought was to treat each herd as an entity and to offer encouragement to the original owner to clean up his herd, and then keep it clean."

Then having cleaned up a herd, the next rational step is the clean and accredited area. Essex county is the first area in which herds have been cleared of tubercular cattle and then kept clean. It will cost the state of New York less to keep Essex county clean, now that it has been cleaned, than to continue slaughtering cattle as would have been done under the old plan, and the cattle owners not only will suffer less loss but the public will be more satisfied and receive more benefit.

The last legislature made a radical departure from the usual procedure by appropriating $2,500,000 for cattle slaughtered during the preceding year and a similar amount for cattle about to be slaughtered in the interest of the public health. That was the largest amount ever appropriated. Governor Smith approved the appropriation but insisted during the legislative session that the department of farms and markets ought to be abolished because it was not meeting the serious condition created by the existence and spread of tuberculosis among milk-producing cows throughout the state.

Commissioner Pyrke of that department has answered all criticism of the governor and others by his adoption of the "accredited herd" and "accredited area" system, and his appointment of Christian P. Norgord of Wisconsin as assistant commissioner to carry out the plan, which was originated by the new assistant. Norgord's appointment for this purpose is comparable only to the appointment of Thomas A. Edison or Prof. Steinmetz of Schenectady for active work in the electrical world.

It was Norgord, serving as commissioner of agriculture of Wisconsin since 1915, who originated the accredited herd idea and followed it with the plan of the accredited area. After originating the plan he put it in operation, and he was so successful that other states recognized its wisdom and adopted it promptly. Most properly the state of New York, standing first in population and importance among all the states of the Union, sought the best man obtainable to inaugurate its new policy by inviting the originator of the plan to use his best efforts for preserving the lives and health of our people. It required courage for Commissioner Pyrke to go outside the state, disregard "politics" and consider only special fitness in selecting a man to put through the plan, but Commissioner Pyrke himself is a "political accident," selected by the non-partisan Council of Farms and Markets on account of his ability and efficiency. A few more "accidents" of the same kind would be welcomed.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, inclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. If I keep caterpillars to watch them turn into cocoons, how should I take care of them?

2. I shot a gray squirrel and found it covered with little lumps that resembled warts, and soon after killed another in the same condition. Is this a disease and does it poison the meat?

3. Where does the albatross nest?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. What are the tiny black insects you see sometimes in the snow, called snow-fleas? They seem pretty thick around the sugar camps.

Collembola, popularly called springtails, found in several species. They vary from 1-10 to 1-20 of an inch in length; are not really black, but under the microscope show minute scales of bright color. Spring-tails have a curious method of locomotion by suddenly darting out a long two-forked protuberance from the under side of the abdomen, next to last section. This shoots the body forward or upward. When not in use this "tail" is folded forward under the body. Most entomologies show cuts of this insect, and some unabridged dictionaries have small pictures.

2. Is there any medicinal value in the elder berry or root of the bush people make wine of?

The shrub is elderberry, Sambucus canadensis, (not alder, a tree,) and the berry has some medicinal value, being used both as a laxative and to induce perspiration, when converted into medicine.

3. Are there any white canaries?

Yes, occasionally. The canary has been under artificial selection so long in breeding that many variations of its color can be secured, from decidedly greenish, through orange, yellow, pale yellow, to white. The original wild canary of the Azores and neighboring islands was dark olive green, with little actual yellow except a touch on breast and rump. The common yellow coat was produced by experiments in mating.

WELTMANS' WAS SPIRITED CASE

Action of Partition to Divide Wawarsing Farm — Brothers Involved Came From Russia and One Grew Wealthy Making Cloaks and Suits.

One of the most important cases tried before Judge Rosch at the present trial term, was that of Nathan Weltman against Samuel Weltman, taking two days of the term.

The plaintiff and the defendants are brothers. As tenants in common, they own a farm in the town of Wawarsing, consisting of one hundred six acres of land. Upon it are two boarding houses, barns, a garage, an ice house, silos, wagon houses, chicken houses and other farm buildings. The defendant Samuel Weltman is a wealthy manufacturer of women's suits and cloaks in the city of New York, one of a family of ten, all of whom came here from Russia, Samuel being pioneer of the family, and arriving in 1880. The plaintiff Nathan was the superintendent of a farm in Russia, came here much later than his brother, first started in business in New York, and subsequently with his brother's aid went into the boarding house business upon this farm, where he seems to have prospered. In 1908 the brothers looked over their accounts, and agreed that the defendant Samuel had invested $8,221 more than Nathan in the property. Thereupon it was agreed that both of them should execute a mortgage to their brother Oscar for that amount, which Oscar should hold in trust for the benefit of Samuel.

In 1917 Samuel had a stroke of apoplexy which so affected his mind as to make him incompetent to transact business, and the Chase National Bank of the city of New York, one of the largest banking houses in this country, was appointed committee of his person and estate. In March, 1922, Nathan began an action of partition to have the farm divided or sold, and the proceeds divided. In that action he claimed that his brother Samuel repeatedly had promised to cancel the $8,000 mortgage held by Oscar in trust for his, Samuel's, benefit.

As it was impossible for the Chase National Bank to obtain any information from Samuel, it defended the action. An application was made to Judge Seeger to frame issues of fact for submission to a jury. Fifteen issues were presented by the plaintiff for his consideration. The motion subsequently was abandoned and it was agreed to try the case before Judge Rosch without a jury.

The trial was a most interesting one. A number of members of the Weltman family, brothers, sons, sons-in-law, daughters, testified that Samuel repeatedly had promised to cancel the mortgage held for his benefit by Oscar. Also they testified that Samuel had made his summer home on the farm, coming there with his wife, children, horses, carriages, servants, coachman, automobiles, chauffeurs, and that for the board and keep of this entourage he was indebted to Nathan.

As might be imagined, the trial was a spirited one. Fried and Krakower of Brooklyn, and Judge William D. Cunningham represented the plaintiff; Meier Steinbrink, Hunter L. Delatour, Henry Goldberg and Judge Clearwater represented the defendants, and the Chase National Bank. At the close of the evidence Judge Rosch took the papers, and instructed counsel to prepare their proposed findings and briefs, and send them to him at his chambers.

THAT OLD TIN BOX:

Are you one of those old-fashioned people who still keep their securities and important papers in an old tin box? When away from home, don't you have it constantly in mind that "something might happen?" Often something does happen! Tin boxes, like office safes, are no protection from fire and burglary.

Our new vault is both fire and burglarproof.

Why not rent one of our safe deposit boxes and rid yourself of risk and worry?

Our boxes cost only 25 cents a month.

IS YOUR PEACE-OF-MIND WORTH THAT MUCH?

An inspection of our newly created safe deposit department entails no obligation.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF ULSTER. —JOHN K. TUTTLE, Plaintiff, against MARGARET GOLDMAN and SIGMUND H. HALPERN, as General Guardian, and MARK P. ANSORGE, Defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, made and entered in the above entitled action, bearing date the Seventh day of April, 1923, and duly entered in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on April 10th, 1923, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said Judgment named, will sell at public auction at front door of the County Court House in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York on the Second day of July, 1923, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, daylight saving time, the premises by said Judgment directed to be sold and therein described as follows:

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND situate in the Village of Pine Hill, Town of Shandaken County of Ulster and State of New York bounded and described as follows: Beginning in the center of the street leading to the railroad at a point in line with the easterly boundary of lot owned and occupied by Edward Castle and running thence along a line of stakes N. 33¾ deg. E. 113 feet more or less to the center of an old road; thence along down stake; thence along the road center S. 39½ deg. E. 75 feet to a deg. E. 200 feet to the center of the street leading to the railroad; thence up along N. 74 deg. W. 190 feet, and N. 89½ deg. W. reserving the right of use for all purposes as a public highway that part of the above described premises formerly used as a highway and known as the old road, for the joint benefit of all owners of lands adjoining the same. Being the parcel designated as "No. 1" in a deed of conveyance from Henry Davis, Referee in partition to Frederick H. Langford, dated May 26th, 1920 and recorded in Ulster County Clerk's Office in Deed Book No. 361 at page 182.

The above described premises are the same premises described in a deed from Johanna Goldman to Samuel Goldman dated April 1, 1900, recorded in Liber 451 of Deeds, page 208.

SAFETY MIRRORS PREVENT ACCIDENT

Only negligence can make an accident possible in Santa Barbara, Cal., where mirrors posted at blind corners and obstructed intersections show the driver if he's followed or his path is clear.

BAD BRAKES ARE CAUSE OF FINES

New York Magistrate Determined Motorists Shall Be Ready for Any Emergency.

"A man driving an automobile which has defective brakes is as much an enemy of society as a gunman," declared Magistrate Simms in the New York City Traffic court when he imposed fines ranging from $25 to $50 each on motorists who were arrested by the brake inspection squad of the department of public safety. The fines were paid by the prisoners who were convicted of operating pleasure cars, taxicabs and motor trucks with bad brakes. In imposing the fines, the court warned the accused that a second conviction would mean a term in the workhouse.

Result of Accidents.

The department of public safety is engaged in a city-wide campaign to induce motorists to give necessary attention to brakes. This drive is a result of an epidemic of automobile accidents which caused more than a dozen deaths in one week. The brake inspection squad is operating in every borough of Greater New York. Officers use automobiles and watch others. When a machine is seen to be using brakes that have not been adjusted it is halted and the brakes are inspected. If they are in bad condition the driver is given a summons to appear in traffic court where Magistrate Simms is imposing heavy fines and jail sentences for second offenders.

Due to Bad Brakes.

Results of the recent investigation in the Borough of Brooklyn show that 10 per cent of all auto accidents are due to bad brakes. Several cities have sent safety experts to ascertain the methods employed in New York to curb this evil. At least a dozen other municipalities have inaugurated brake inspection campaigns which have resulted in a decrease in the number of accidents.

The New York city brake inspection work is being conducted under the direction of Marcus Dow, president of the National Safety council, which recently made public statistics showing that more than 12,000 persons were victims of automobile accidents in this country last year.

At present police officers connected with the department of public safety are delivering a series of lectures on brake adjustment at daily meetings of motorists held in public garages, schools, and before civic associations.

REPAIR REAR AXLE HOUSING

One of Several Methods for Mending Broken Part of Auto Is Illustrated and Described.

When the rear axle housing of my automobile broke, I repaired it in the manner here described and illustrated. Before beginning the repairs, I wired the broken parts together by drawing wire tight from one brake drum to the other. Then I drilled and tapped several series of ¼-inch holes in the housing, three on each side of the break for each of the strips that were intended to hold the broken parts together.

The strips, of which I used four, were eight inches long and ¾-inch wide and 3-16 inch thick. In each of the strips I drilled six holes ¼-inch in diameter to match the holes drilled in the housing. The strips were screwed to the housing—and then I turned all the way around them.—A. J. Weisinger, in Popular Science Monthly.

POLICE CHIEF GIVES SOUND SAFETY RULES

Head of Pennsylvania Troopers Promulgates Fifteen Tips to Reduce Accidents.

Maj. Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the Pennsylvania state police force, recently promulgated the following simple rules which, he said, if observed by all motorists, would reduce the number of accidents on the highways 95 per cent. The rules are as follows:

1. Read the automobile laws of your state carefully.
2. Never travel at a high rate of speed over a road with which you are unfamiliar.
3. Never drive, at any time, on the wrong side of the highway.
4. Heed warning signs.
5. Never pass, or attempt to pass, a car going in the same direction at the crest of a hill or on a curve.
6. Never stop your car just over the brow of a hill or just around a curve.
7. Never follow a car traveling at a high rate of speed at less distance than 50 yards.
8. If you wish to pass another car going in your direction choose a long, straight stretch of road.
9. When you are traveling at a chosen rate of speed don't "speed up" because someone attempts to pass you.
10. Make careful and frequent inspections and tests of your brakes.
11. Never use bulbs of higher candlepower than those prescribed by law for your lenses.
12. Inspect your tail light frequently. This light marks the position of your car for the following driver, who may be facing light of an oncoming automobile.
13. Remember that the taking of a human life by doing a lawful act in an unlawful manner is involuntary manslaughter, a crime punishable by a prison sentence.
14. Remember that every time you "take a chance" you are gambling—with the lives of other people as the "stakes."
15. "Safety First, Last and Always."

GET AWAY FROM MUD SPLASH

When Machines Are Close Together Dirt Is Not Likely to Strike as High as Door.

When trying to avoid getting splashed with mud most drivers will get as far away from a passing car as possible. This is just the reverse of what one ought to do to avoid such nuisance. When the cars are ten feet or so apart any mud that is splashed is sure to strike the body of the other car, whereas if the machines are closer together, say three feet apart, mud that is splashed will only strike the wheels and the under sides of the fenders. What mud would ordinarily splash on the doors is much more likely to be caught under the running board when the cars pass closer together.

Pure rain water is the best that can be used in the cooling system. This is because it is free from mineral substances.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

COW'S HOME

"Moo, moo," said Madam Cow to Miss Nanny Goat, "I have something quite funny to tell you."

"Tell it to me," said Miss Nanny Goat. "I will probably think it is funny for they say I'm a silly goat and so I will be willing to laugh at anything."

"Not much of a compliment," said Madam Cow, "but still I am not going to be annoyed

"Well, some people passed by the other day. You see we are but a little way out of the city and people are surprised to see us here.

"It's not a real farm and yet our master likes to have a cow and he likes to have a goat and there are some other pets about, too.

"But the people seem surprised always to see a cow so near the city.

"These people who passed the other day had been this way once before.

"That was about a year ago. And they had seen us here and they had been surprised then.

"When they saw us the other day as they passed by they said:

"'Isn't that strange? We saw that cow and goat here last year—in just this very spot.'

"Well, I thought that was quite funny.

"I was amused to think that they were surprised to see us in the same place. Why should they have thought we would have moved since they had seen us?

"I'm not one to go from place to place. Some creatures are always liking to change their homes. They move their furniture and their bedding and their clothes and their dishes and so forth

"But that is not my way. To be sure if I did have to move I wouldn't have to take any furniture, nor any bedding, nor any clothes, nor sets of dishes

"That is where a cow is so sensible. A cow doesn't have to go to a lot of trouble to start in with housekeeping in the first place.

"A pleasant field, a good barn in the winter, a brook or stream perhaps—those things are a cow's furniture.

"Willing to Laugh at Anything."

"So if I did intend to move I would not get all worn out packing up everything and making sure that I had not forgotten some of the things.

"Dear me, I wouldn't have to say:

"'Now I wonder if I have forgotten anything. It would be dreadful if I left anything behind.

"'Oh, dear, I wonder if I remembered to put the pillows at the top of the trunk where I can get them out the first thing.

"'And I do hope I didn't forget to put my heavy coat toward the top so I can have it if I get cold.'

"No, Mrs. Cow would not have to say any of these things. Nor would you, Nanny Goat."

"Ma-a-a," said Nanny Goat. "You speak the truth."

"And so, as I say, if I had to move, I could move with ease and I would not get tired out or cross in the hard work of getting ready.

"But I don't move. I like to stay in the same place. I am contented. I'm not always thinking that some day I'd like a little place by the sea or a big place in town.

"I'm satisfied with the home I have and I don't want to move.

"Oh, a cow is a contented creature.

"And it did seem such a joke to think that the people knew so little about cows that they were surprised to think I hadn't moved.

"That did amuse me, and I really had to swish my tail very hard and pretend that I was busy getting the flies to call elsewhere besides on my back so the people would not know I was really anxious to laugh at them.

"I suppose they wouldn't have been surprised if they had seen a moving van with lots of grass and hay upon it with Madam Cow giving moo orders about everything.

"How strange people are!"

"I think it was a good joke to think they were surprised to see us here," said Nanny Goat. "Truly, I think that was something very funny."

"I thought you would agree with me," said Madam Cow. "I thought so."

Too Sudden.

Little Mary came into the house bedraggled and weeping.

"My goodness," cried her mother. "What a sight you are! How did it happen?"

"I am s-sorry, mamma, but I fell into a mud-puddle."

"What! with your best new dress on?"

"Y-y-yes, I didn't have time to change it."

SOMETHING TO EAT

A few soups without meat may be acceptable at this time of the year

Celery Soup.—Take one quart of finely-cut celery, add one quart of boiling water, cook five minutes in a closely covered fireless cooker kettle, then place on a heated stone in a fireless cooker for two hours. Heat one pint of milk thickened with one tablespoonful each of butter and flour cooked together. Put the celery through a potato ricer and return to the water in which it was boiled, add the thickened milk, season with salt and pepper and a dash of nutmeg, boil two minutes and serve.

One bunch of asparagus may be cooked the same way, making a delicious asparagus soup. A cupful of cream or rich milk with an egg stirred in at the last will make a more nourishing and richer soup.

Spring Vegetable Soup.—Place in a fireless cooker kettle one cupful of green peas, one cupful of asparagus, one-half cupful of carrots cut into small dice, two stalks of celery, two green onions and a small sprig of parsley; cook all in one quart of water (boiling) closely covered for ten minutes, then place in the cooker and leave for four hours. Rub the mixture through a sieve, add a tablespoonful of flour, two tablespoonfuls of butter; cook until smooth, add a dash of cloves, a teaspoonful of salt, a bit of cayenne; mix all together and serve hot.

Cauliflower Cream Soup.—Take two cupfuls of minced cauliflower, drop it into a quart of milk and let it come to the boiling point, cover and let simmer on the back of the stove for five minutes then place in the cooker for two hours. Thicken with butter and flour, boil up and serve with a teaspoonful of minced parsley.

INSURANCE RUNS INTO BILLIONS

Metropolitan Manager Gets Kiwanians Where They Can't Plead "Too Busy" to Listen to Statistics.

Mr. Heimerle, manager for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in this city, told some things about life insurance in general to the Kiwanis Club Thursday that are often missed by the average man who tells the agent he's "too busy to listen."

In this state 246 companies are licensed to do business, not counting the fraternities that insure their members. The Metropolitan has 27,000,000 policyholders in the United States and Canada and 15,000 agents render service to them. Insurance companies doing business in this state last reported assets of over nine billion dollars and insurance in force amounted to over ten billion dollars.

An important phase of the welfare work of the Metropolitan, one which statisticians assert saved 38,000 lives from 1910 to 1920 and saved the company over $3,000,000 in death losses, is the distribution of literature on right living and its nurse service to policyholders.

Dr. J. P. Reading, present for the first time since his recent marriage, was fittingly received.

Arthur J. Burns and Roy Sutliff, past presidents, took turns presiding in the absence of President Gates. A telegram from Dr. Gates and Richard Marchant was read saying they had reached Atlanta and the city was given over to the 6,000 Kiwanis delegates assembled for the convention.

The attendance prize was given by W. Frank Davis and passed into the possession of Arthur J. Burns.

A full auditorium at the high school next Monday night for the William J. Burns lecture was forecast by Charles Lasher, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for it.

The next Kiwanis meeting on June 7 will be a ladies' night on the Clancy farm, just north of Temple's pond, which is under lease to the Y. M. C. A. for summer camping and other purposes.

MAY DAY AT KINDERGARTEN

On Tuesday afternoon the little folks of Miss Costello's kindergarten gave the following program at the school on Washington avenue, the same having been postponed from May 19th:

Crowning of the queen and queen's address to subjects.

May Queen, Jean Jacqueline Canfield.

Attendants, Hilda Winne and Christobel Murphy.

Master of ceremonies, Robert Gwynn Chambers.

Song—"May Comes Laughing O'er the Plain," by the kindergarten.

Fairies' Moonlight Dance, by the kindergarten.

Recitation, "May Day Morn," (written by Mrs. Little at the age of twelve) given by Jean Jacqueline Canfield.

Solo Dance, "The Easter Bunny," by Christobel Murphy.

May-Pole song and dance by the kindergarten.

Minuet by Beethoven, danced in costume by Susan Williams and Robert Gwynn Chambers.

Rhythmic play and dance, "Blossoming Flowers." (An allegorical play showing the sequence of the seasons and the nature cycle, which begins with the scattering of the seeds in the fall and ends in the blossoming flowers.)

Autumn Wind, Robert Gwynn Chambers.

Snow, Edith Woolsey.

March Wind, Harold Winters.

Sun, Susan Williams.

Rain, Virginia Every.

Flowers and birds, Jean Canfield, Christobel Murphy, Hilda Winne, Dorothy Anderson, Spencer Ennist, Robert Reed.

Song, "Oh, the Lovely May," by the kindergarten.

Director, Miss Dora L. Costello.

Pianist, Miss Jennie F. Snyder.

The children marched from the kindergarten room to the garden to the strains of "Stars and Stripes Forever," played on the victrola. Appearing on the lawn, Miss Snyder played the "Children's Carnival March".

Leading the procession came Master Robert G. (Sonny) Chambers, who made a most impressive master of ceremonies. Then came the lovely little four-year-old queen, Jean Jacqueline Canfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kenneth Canfield in a gown of white point de esprit over white satin and carrying a shower bouquet of pink sweet peas and smilax. The master of ceremonies presented the queen with her sceptre, a tall and graceful lily and crowned her with a wreath of sweet peas and smilax. Her train was carefully carried by "Junior" Ennist and her sweet little attendants, Hilda Winne and Christobel Murphy kept close to their queen's side. It was all very dignified, the little queen seeming to particularly appreciate that this was her day of days so long anticipated, and at last happily realized as the expression of the love of her wee schoolmates who had chosen to confer such honor upon her. Her address to her subjects was delivered in a clear voice and graceful manner.

"The Fairies' Moonlight Dance" which followed was charming, the would-be fairies showing in their dancing the care needful, not to step on violet or daisy which were carefully pushed aside with dainty point steps.

One very remarkable feature of the program was the reciting, by four-year-old Jean Jacqueline Canfield of the 32 lines of the following poem written by her grandmother, and given without a break, perfectly gestured, an exceptional exhibition of natural talent and careful training.

May Day Morn.

'Twas May Day Morn.
And never hath a fairer morn been seen,
I walked along the church yard path
Toward the village green.

A little maiden sat alone,
The rest were at their play
She sat upon a church yard stone,
And this, I heard her say.

"The fields are green, the sweet winds blow,
My playmates they are glad,
I love to hear them shouting so,
But oh! it makes me sad."

My little brother played with me
Last May Day, on the green,
And two such happy ones as we
Were nowhere to be seen.

The sweetest flower that he could find,
He always brought to me,
I never knew a boy so kind,
As Willie used to be.

One year ago, I little thought,
But 'ere there passes another
He to the church yard would be brought,
My happy little brother.

More love for this grey stone I have
Than all the village green,
I'd rather sit on Willie's grave,
Than be the May Day Queen.

The tears were standing in her eyes,
I left her there alone,
But since I've heard that Nellie lies,
Beneath the church yard stone.

Little Miss Murphy in the "Bunny Dance" costumed as a tiny white "cotton tail," was never so cute and called forth much applause as did every number.

Another picturesque number beautifully and gracefuly given was the Minuet, danced by Susan Williams in a pink taffeta silk costume of the Colonial period, and wearing a little fancy wig and by Robert G. Chambers in a black satin Colonial costume, also wearing a wig.

The allegorical dance of "Blossoming Flowers" each little solo character in appropriate costume and the flowers covered at first with brown—earth colored—capes until fully awakened by rain, when they slowly dropped the capes and appeared as little living flowers, was not only very pretty but was admirably done, showing that the little folks had received much careful training in both imagination and action.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, May 31.—Surely the spirit of patriotism prevailed on Sunday morning in the Reformed Church as the choir and congregation sang the old familiar patriotic songs. The pastor, the Rev. T. S. Braithwaite, delivered a very fine sermon which was listened to by a large congregation. The church was beautifully decorated with plants, flowers and small and large flags.

The Lord's supper will be administered on Sunday morning, June 3, in the Reformed Church at 10:30 Standard time.

Mrs. E. D. Kortright spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Westbrook at Kyserike.

Mrs. Catherine Joseph have gone to New York to spend a month with her daughter, Mrs. Clark.

Mrs. Belle Herdman and daughter of Kingston were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Krom on Sunday past.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hamm and little son Robert called on John Ayers on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Loretta Ostrander of Kingston is spending some time at the home of her uncle, Frank Hotchkins.

Mrs. Elsie Wager of Kingston and her daughter, Mrs. Newkirk, of Napanoch visited friends here the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Williams, Loyde Williams and friend of Poughkeepsie visited the Kyserike Cemetery on Sunday.

Mrs. Frances Purcell left for Lake Mohonk on Monday.

Mrs. McCarthy was a caller at the home of Miss M. C. Van Wagenen on Thursday.

George Switzer has rented the rooms recently vacated by Charles Lapolt.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robinson and son Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Robinson of Kingston visited Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Stalls on Sunday.

Mr. Mittman has rented his house to city people for the summer.

Mrs. Peden and daughter Agnes and little son of Kingston spent the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Neish.

Grant Young, Mr. and Mrs. N. Schrum of New York motored to this place and spent Tuesday night and Wednesday with Mrs. E. D. Kortright. While here they visited Kyserike Cemetery and called on Mr. Young's father, Jeremiah Young, at Alligerville. Mrs Young, who has spent a week with her mother returned with them to the city on Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stevens spent the past Sunday at Shokan.

Mr. and Mrs. George Holmes of Poughkeepsie spent Tuesday and Wednesday at their home in this place.

PLUTARCH.

Plutarch, May 31.—People here are attending church services at Lloyd.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gutzler have sold their chicken farm and the parties have taken possession.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McCormick and children, Miss Gussie Shultz and Homer Pulver of Pine Plains, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie McCormick and children of New Paltz visited with Mr. and Mrs. Henry McCormick on Sunday.

Myron Freer of Ohioville was a caller in this place on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Auchmoody and children and Miss Cornelia Atkins spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ezekiel Auchmoody.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mitchel entertained a number of city friends over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Auchmoody were Kingston visitors last week.

Miss Hazel Freer of Shivertown called on friends in town Sunday.

Several from here attended the circus at Shodikee Lake on Saturday night last.

In Interscholastic Track Meet Memorial Day at Schenectady—District 13 Wins—Two Represent K. H. S.

District 13 won the state interscholastic track meet held at the Union College field on Memorial Day, when Albany High School took first place in the medley relay race, nosing out Schenectady and thus giving her one less point. Schenectady and Buffalo ran neck and neck throughout the meet and it was only the results of the relay that settled the question as to who would be the winner District 13, including Buffalo, scored 22 points, District 5, including Schenectady, came out second with 21½ points District 2, New Rochelle, was third, 13½ points, District 11, Rochester, fourth, 12, and District 1, Riverhead, fifth, 11¾ District 3, the Hudson Valley district, came out somewhere near the bottom with 7¾ points.

There were eleven events, fourteen contestants taking part in each event These fourteen were selected in the trials of the morning from all the attending contestants

Schenectady High School made the highest individual score, getting 16 of the total of 21½ points for its district The Buffalo district won the most number of first places, taking first honors in the 100 yard dash, the 220 low hurdles and the running broad jump

Baker, of the East Rochester High School, one of the youngest contestants, he being but 15, caused a sensation when he ran the half mile in 2 min 4 2-5 sec

District 3 the local section, placed in several of the events Dikeman of Goshen came in second in the low hurdles McKeever of Newburgh was second in the 12 lb shotput hurling the ball somewhat short of his usual distance, 40 ft 5 in Buell tied with three others for third place in the pole vault Joe of Poughkeepsie came in third in the half mile run The southern [illegible] were to prove [illegible] author[illegible] that these fellows have been [illegible] because of the [illegible] and this accounts for [illegible] poor showing

Blouse and Cape Liked by Women

Garments Among Features in the Tailored and Sports Wear.

Tailored suits are emphasized These are almost always with the blouse in harmony but separate Many charming models are in the so called sports-wear style. A new idea, notes a fashion correspondent in the New York Tribune, is to have a separate collar or scarf to match the suit in fabric and color.

Deauville, a lovely model in white, has a blouse made from a printed silk shawl. A suit of white wool crepella has a finely plaited skirt and a blouse-coat of yellow bure Accompanying this is a blouse of yellow tussah printed in lovely tones of yellow with black and white relief. "Discretion" is a three-piece suit the dress of which is of white serge trimmed with navy blue and red The coat is bright red frisotta, a new, nappy-surfaced, silky-looking material

Red and white are featured in a costume of three-piece effect, with wrap in cape style, the latter lined with a red printed crepe de chine and the simple, straight dress of white with colorful printed trimmings.

"Golf" is a very sporty looking model in homespun Shetland wool, with a plain skirt and sweater blouse. Another interesting effect is achieved in a knitted suit in wool chinee, showing a blend of navy yellow and castor yarns

Important for out-of-door wear are dresses and coats of rubberized crepe de chine in lovely shades, such as sage

Green Dress of Sports Silk With Cape of Same Material; Back Is Attached to a Belt.

green, primrose yellow and rose violine Sometimes these dresses are reversible and in two shades

There also are several models made of suede and dressed leathers, notably in bright red and deep rust color. Leather and rubberized crepe de chine are combined in some of the novelty sports coats

Novelty Woolens All Rage for Top Coats

Whether you plan to travel or to remain at home, a good-looking top coat is a very worth while possession. The new spring models are as practical as they are attractive

In the first place novelty woolens are all the rage Never have there been so many delightful colors and patterns to choose from Time was when a coat was a garment primarily for warmth Usually it was of some dark material, well cut but always on conventional lines

Now a coat must be jaunty or it isn't in the running and the owner feels rather out of it if an admiring friend can say, "Your coat is stunning. It's such and such material, isn't it?"

For if you're wearing a really up-to-the-minute model it'll be "What a charming wrap" But do tell me what the material is I could never guess. Haven't seen anything like it"

They can't know that your top coat is [illegible] that it should be and you can murmur "My dear it's one of the novelty woolens" with a detached air that doesn't give away at all how pleased you are that your modiste never misses the newest innovations.

Old Styles Made Smart.

The revival of the fashions and fabrics of the 'eighties and 'nineties is the latest trend of dress. The curious thing is that while these periods suggest dowdiness and dullness, the new spring gowns inspired by them are charming.

Stylish Sleeves.

Sleeves can't be too long these days. When they have gone as far as they dare with the material, they are quite apt to add frills of lace or chiffon. The other extreme, of course, is to eliminate the sleeve entirely.

A new whiteness in 3 or 4 washings:

3 or 4 washings with this remarkable soap will remove former traces of grayness—often unnoticed for lack of comparison.

You will be thoroughly proud of the much-desired original "new" whiteness which is restored.

Notice, too, how these washings with P and G clear and preserve the freshness of colors.

Why P and G keeps clothes so white

1 To begin with, it is white itself.
2 It dissolves completely in water of any temperature.
3 It makes clear solution which quickly penetrates and loosens all dirt—thorough, not "strong."
4 It acts on the dirt, not on fabrics.
5 It rinses out entirely.

Every spoonful of Kellogg's Bran helps free you from toxic poisons!

Constipation is largely responsible for auto-intoxication that leads to dangerous diseases unless it is not only checked but permanently relieved. Constipation, in fact, is the basis of a majority of human ailments, which could be headed off if people would only help rid themselves of this serious, health-undermining condition, which can be easily done.

Constipation must be fought to a finish—not with pills and cathartics, which are dangerous to the delicate membranes of the intestines and temporary at best—but with nature's greatest cereal health food—Bran—Kellogg's Bran, which is as delicious as it is beneficial.

Kellogg's Bran is wonderful in its work because it is ALL BRAN. And, to get permanent relief, ALL BRAN is a necessity, for it is the "bulk" of Kellogg's Bran that sweeps and purifies, ridding the system of poisons and bringing conditions to normal. Eat Kellogg's Bran regularly—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; as much with each meal in chronic cases—and we guarantee that you will get relief permanently and naturally.

Kellogg's Bran is delicious. You do not have to learn to like it. Eat it as a cereal or sprinkle on or mix with hot or cold cereals. Or, cook it with hot cereals, allowing two tablespoonfuls for each person. Kellogg's makes wonderful muffins, griddle cakes, raisin bread, macaroons, etc. Recipes on package.

Leading hotels, clubs and restaurants serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. All grocers.

ELIMINATING TB FROM N. Y. HERDS

Much has been said of the Accredited Herd Plan of tuberculosis eradication, of the area plan of control, of the various kinds of tests to determine whether cattle are affected with the disease, and the means of infection, but in all likelihood most persons are a little hazy as to the work which is being done toward the elimination of tuberculosis from the herds of New York state.

The primary object is to free cattle from tuberculosis, thereby improving the dairy breeds of cattle; and behind this is the demand for a clean and wholesome milk supply. That the bovine form of tuberculosis may be transmitted to the human family is conceded, experts having determined this by scientific investigation. This work is to be looked upon from an economic as well as a public health point of view, since great losses result from the inroads of the disease in the herds of the state.

The principal feature is the application of the tuberculin test. There are three methods of applying this test—subcutaneous, the intradermic, and the opthalmic. The subcutaneous test is a temperature test, and after the tuberculin has been administered if the temperature of the animal rises to a certain point it shows that the condition of the animal is tuberculous. In the intradermic test the tuberculin is injected at the base of the tail; if a lump rises at the point of injection, after a given time, this indicates a tuberculous condition. In the opthalmic test the tuberculin is placed in the eye of the animal. If there is an exudation from the eye, in a given period, or, in other words, if the eye discharges, it is indicated that the animal is infected with tuberculosis.

This tuberculin test is applied once and then if the animal on a test twelve months later fails to respond in such a manner as to indicate a tuberculous condition, it is held free from tuberculosis; and a herd of animals so tested is entitled to be declared accredited tuberculosis-free, or what is more commonly known as an "Accredited Herd."

The owner receives payment for tuberculous cattle after they have been tested, condemned, and slaughtered under postmortem by the state and federal departments, as follows:

Maximum for pure-bred cattle—$112.50 by the state; $50 by the federal government.

Maximum for grade cattle—$67.50 by the state; $25.00 by the federal government.

In no case, however, can the owner receive more for an animal than its appraised value.

In this work there is cooperation between the federal government and forty-five states. Its importance is shown by the action which has taken place in towns where ordinances have been passed which provide that only milk may be sold which comes from tuberculin tested cows.

The work was started in this state by the Department of Farms and Markets in 1919, in cooperation with the federal bureau of animal industry at Washington. Prior to this time little progress had been made in this direction. In the beginning dairymen were somewhat reluctant to submit their herds to the test, due to a lack of knowledge of the benefits to be derived. There has been a wide dissemination of information on this problem and the value of the work is now more fully realized. At present there is practically an unanimity of opinion on the part of herd owners in every dairy county in favor of the testing of herds.

For the last year the Department of Farms and Markets has been developing the area plan of elimination, which means the testing of all the cattle in a given section or in a township, and in some cases, in a county. This plan has been so successful that the department has arranged the work for the coming year on this basis. This will mean the cleaning-up of entire counties on the township place, taking a township as a unit. Last year a drive was made, under the area plan, in Essex and Steuben counties, and all the cattle within these two counties were tested. In addition to these, the same plan of action was inaugurated in Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chenango, Greene, Madison, Onondaga, Otsego, Tioga and Tompkins. Each of these counties has employed a county veterinarian who gives his entire time to this effort.

On December 1, 1922, the record shows that 312,000 cows had been tested under the Accredited Herd, or Cooperative plan, and that 19,077 had been accredited as having passed two consecutive tests. Clean milk and the elimination of the danger of infection are the accomplishments brought about by such a campaign, and provision for tuberculosis-free cattle is a tremendous advantage in the matter of buying and selling.

It was discovered some years ago that one of the greatest sources of infection was in feeding young animals the by-product of milk—skim milk and whey—and in 1921 a law was enacted for the pasteurization of whey and skim milk when returned to farmers for feeding purposes. The enforcement of this section, through constant surveillance on the part of the department, is a large asset in preventing the spread of tuberculosis.

Badger Hunting Novel Sport.

Badgers live in the chalk cliffs of the British isles and destroy much game while foraging at night. Badger hunting, or digging, is a novel sport, for it entails following the badger into its lair deep in the ground. Extensive galleries with many ramifications are revealed in the chalk cliffs where for thousands of years the animals have been burrowing and excavating the soil.

OUR LARGEST CAVE

In 1881 a man passing over a hole in the ground had his hat shot off by a sudden gust of air. History fails to record how far he ran or how fast. When he stopped and recovered his senses he told others of this unexpected and exciting experience. A party accompanied him back to the spot and Wind Cave, one of the wonders of our West, a few miles north of the town of Hot Springs in the southwestern corner of South Dakota, was discovered.

Although not all of this cave has been as yet explored, that portion which has been trod by man comprises a larger area than that ocupied by any other known cave in America. The explored portion comprises about one hundred miles of passageways and several hundred rooms or chambers. No outlet has been discovered; therefore, the end is as much a mystery as ever.

Aside from an occasional trickle down some wall, there is an unusual absence of water in this cave. The temperature is a pleasant medium as caves go, neither too warm nor too cold. A peculiar feature which scientists seem unable to solve to their satisfaction is that of the shifting of the movements of air through this cave. At times the trend of the air at the entrance is outward and then again it is inward.

While it is anticipated that ultimately many different routes through this underground cavern will be available to visitors, three only have been opened up to this time. The longest of these routes includes some seventy-five rooms and about six hours are required to make the circuit.

The names bequeathed to the various chambers or rooms are characteristic of the predominating feature of each. There's the Post Office, where most visitors endeavor to find wall space for their cards; the Bride's Chamber, the Garden of Eden, Dante's Inferno, the Opera House, the Cross Roads, the Fair Grounds and so on. These rooms differ widely both as to size and formation. The Fair Grounds is reputed to be the world's largest underground cavern, being upwards of an acre in extent.

These rooms are arranged in parallel tiers and are also stacked in layers. This latter arrangement on so vast a scale as here in evidence is decidedly unusual in cave architecture. The long and short of it is that this cave takes on a resemblance to an eight-story underground office building.

This cave was created a national park in 1903 and is open to tourists throughout the year.

ANOTHER MARKET FOR BRAIDED THREAD

According to the estimate of a large jobbing house which deals exclusively with shoe REPAIR men, the work of repairing shoes provides a potential market for Braided Shoe Thread nearly as large as that in the shoe MANUFACTURING industry.

This brings the estimated demand for Braided Thread for the manufacture and repair of shoes to ..... 3,640,000 lbs. per year

Present production about ..... 960,000 lbs. per year

Shortage ..... 2,680,000 lbs. per year

The Braided Thread Corporation's plans call for a total annual production, by 1927 of 1,800,000 lbs. still leaving a shortage of 880,000 lbs. per year in the requirements of the shoe manufacturers and repairmen.

We are now receiving subscriptions for the Preferred Stock of the Braided Thread Corporation.

CARLSON FELL AMONG SAMARITANS

An outstanding example of practical Christianity has been furnished the people of this city by the pastor of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, the Rev. Robert A. Greenwell, and his congregation.

When the Rev. Mr. Greenwell read in the newspapers that Kenneth Carlson, who died at the Kingston City Hospital on Tuesday evening had been shot by a negro at Rifton and that he was in the Kingston City Hospital in a serious condition he went to visit him at once. As so far as was known Carlson was not of any professed creed the authorities at the hospital were greatly surprised that the Rev. Mr. Greenwell should call on him. He asked permission to visit him and this permission was granted. From that time on the pastor and members of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church have been rendering both spiritual and financial aid to Carlson and also his wife and family. Funds were provided whereby the wife might have an opportunity to stay in this city and be with her husband which she did for about two weeks Then in conjunction with A. G. Carr of the A. Carr & Son undertaking establishment all arrangements were made for the funeral of the man without any cost to the family, for whom no hope of recovery was held out.

As the Rev. Mr. Greenwell received a bad injury to his ankle on Wednesday the funeral was conducted by the Rev. O. A. Merchant, a retired minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at 11 o'clock Thursday morning at the undertaking establishment of A. Carr & Son. The interment was in the Wiltwyck Cemetery.

ANNIVERSARY EXERCISES AT CHURCH OF COMFORTER

Sunday was a most auspicious day in the history of the Church of the Comforter, as it passed the sixtieth milestone of its history. The flowers in the church were beautiful and the music by the choir and solos by Miss Weaver and Mrs. Dougherty were inspiring. The Rev. William Chamberlain, D. D., secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions preached the sermon, taking his text from Isaiah 27:3. It was a masterly sermon on God's care over the church and the churches mission to the world. The church was in the world to make disciples of Christ. He held the large congregation which filled the church spellbound. Following this service the annual memorial service was held in the cemetery. After singing "Onward Christian Soldiers," prayer was offered by the pastor, then followed a recitation by Miss Thurley Hicks and the reading of the Gettsburg address by P. H. Carey. Dr. Chamberlain again spoke on "What Is America and What Does It Mean to Be an American Citizen?" It was an address that will not soon be forgotten. The two or three hundred people who gathered around Miss Reynolds's monument hung on his words. He said, that to him this was a unique service.

In the evening the Rev. Frank B. Seeley brought a message that was thoroughly enjoyed by the large congregation. He brought the felicitations of the Fair Street Reformed Church and then without taking a text spoke on the "Need of the Church in the Community." The church of Jesus Christ was a mighty power for good in the world today, that any community would be poor indeed if there were no church in it. As he spoke he held the rapt attention of all. Taken all together Sunday was a great day in the life of the Church of the Comforter.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, May 31.—Tuesday evening, May 22, the Order of Eastern Star of this place received their D. D. G. M. and A. G. L. of Greene-Ulster district, and it was an occasion that will long be remembered. They were honored by a very good attendance. W. M. Mrs. Florence Plass opened the meeting. Mrs. Susanne E. Decker, acting grand conductress and Martin Schantz, acting grand marshal escorted the D. D. G. M. and grand staff to the altar and the introductory remarks by these officers were highly commended after grand honors had been given all. The altar was draped in memory of a departed grand officer, and Star degrees were conferred upon two candidates. In a very pleasing manner. Mrs. McWilliams, R. W. D. D. G. M., gave interesting remarks, also R. W. Mr. Bogardus, A. G. L. These people were presented with gifts: Basket of flowers to Mrs. McWilliams by the W. M. Mrs. Plass and Mrs. Hotchkin, A. M., in behalf of the chapter, gave a prize, and the Rev. G. H. Schofield, past pastor, presented Mr. Bogardus with a gold pencil, and Mrs Schamerhorn, conductress, gave to Mrs. Plass, W. M. a basket of sweet peas. Presentation remarks were pleasing from all and the recipients responded in the usual pleasing manner. At the close of the meeting all were escorted to the M. E. Church parlors, where the Auxiliary Club served all with refreshments. Well deserved commendations were showered upon Mrs. Decker, the president, and her efficient committee of able assistants, who were indefatigable in their efforts to ensure the pleasantness of the occasion. During the meal time was devoted to cementing Eastern Star acquaintances, and in the morning hours all left thinking it good to belong to a "Woman's Fraternal Order."

H. E. Wilcox, Mrs. Wilcox, Gordon Wilcox and Miss Kathryn Schantz were week-end people in their camp at Watson Hollow.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ames had as their guest the week-end their daughter, Miss Clara, who is a student at college, in Albany.

The D. of A. will hold its regular meeting June 6th.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Kurtz had as their guest the week-end their son Gordon, who is in New York city.

The Music Study Club gave its 18th complimentary concert in the M. E. Church Monday evening, May 21st to a large audience and every one anticipated a delightful concert, owing to the talent secured and their expectations were realized. Miss C. L. Hey of Poughkeepsie, mezzo-soprano, has a voice of fine quality, rich and full, and her clear enunciation showed her training. J. H. Smithy of N. Y., baritone, charmed his audience, no less by his pleasing personality than by his rich and musical voice. Charles Gilbert Spross, composer, pianist, always arouses great enthusiasm. Nothing is difficult to him, he simply dazzled the hearers by the splendor of his performance. All the laudatory terms one could marshal would but inadequately express the admiration of this great musician. Groups of songs and duets were charmingly sung. The program from start to finish went without a hitch, and it is not hyperbolic to say that all covered themselves with glory. Miss Hey was the recipient of two baskets of flowers. The "Song Without Words" alone was a brilliant execution and greatly appreciated. Frequent encores for all showed how they found favor. At the close ice cream and cake were served by the club members, and everyone declared it a fine musical treat.

Mrs. Russell Wyckoff has returned home. She with her children spent two weeks in busy New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fisher of Vineyard avenue have had recent guests from Marlborough.

Mrs. Victor Batt's, brother from Germany has arrived in town to spend some time with her. She was delighted beyond measure.

Sunday evening last at the invitation of the Rev. F. A. Coons the Eastern Stars, D. of A., Rebekahs, Masons, American Legion, J. O. U. A. M. also K. of P. and few veterans of the Civil War attended the M. E. Church and listened to an address by Prof. W. J. Reagan. Music on Patriotic Order by choir. H. E. Wilcox, director.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Jamblin

When a liner arrives from Europe and passes through the rum fleet of New York harbor the band plays, "Comin' Through the Rye."

The modern widow may be weeping because she misses him, or she may be weeping because she didn't miss him.

Since the war there's only two kinds of men left, majors and minors. The majors can't do any work, and the minors won't.

The Shock of His Life.

"Take care of this man," said the sergeant to the warden, as he went to lock him up. "Give him a nice dry cell. He used to make batteries."

About the most important thing going on now is light underwear.

Wretchedness usually is self-inflicted.

Persons searching for the fountain of youth may find it in friendliness.

An open fireplace openly arrived at is the dream of every dear sweet girl.

Jesse James and his band of buccaneers took your money, all right, but they didn't force you to fill out income blanks.

In a certain drug store there is a glass bowl on a stand with a single goldfish in it. On the outside of the bowl is a placard bearing the following answers to questions which the druggist has become tired of answering in person:

This is a goldfish. It is alive.

There is only one of it. We got it from a boy.

We do not know where the boy got it. It has never died. We do not know how old it is. We feed it when we want to. It eats what we give it.

That is water it is in.

We got the water from the faucet.

We have had the fish ever since we got it.

A man who is always itching to get somewhere isn't necessarily ambitious. He may have fleas.

Give some men a fair start and they will take an unfair advantage.

An Artiste.

The way of art is long.
The restless clocks keep ticking;
Her art has made her strong
With those who do the picking;
She has no voice for song,
But she has legs for kicking.

You nearly always find a prospect in the mental attitude you expected to find him in.

The reason it took centuries to build the pyramids is because it was a government job.

The loudest barkers are always with the side show.

Any man who marries for money, earns it.

Stealing a kiss is not petty larceny, it is grand.

Platinum wedding rings are taking the place of gold ones, but do not seem to hold any better.

The country is full of patriots who are perfectly willing to die for the honor of the flag as long as its honor doesn't need dying for.

All that some people know about the Bible is that it is "made up mainly of words."

We are likely to think times are worse than they used to be when they may be only different.

Don't be too conceited about it. Not every man who will give you a glowing recommendation will endorse a note for you.

Our Own Recipes.

If you would climb the dizzy height
To fame.
And on the scroll of glory write
Your name—
Learn something worth a neighbor's while—
Tell it.
Concoct a lotion that will make one smile—
Sell it.

Babe Ruth's last year's uniform is too large for him. It would be a good thing if the same were true of his last year's cap.

Much Depends on Thought.

Strong, pure and happy thoughts build up the body in vigor and grace. The body is a delicate and plastic instrument which responds readily to the thoughts by which it is impressed, and habits of thought—good or bad—will produce their own effect upon it. —James Allen.

Mrs Clara Phillips

Clara Phillips, alleged California "hammer murderess," brought back to this country from Honduras to stand trail for the slaying of Alberta Meadows, has sacrificed her freedom for her honor, she declared. "I know people won't believe it," she sobbed, "but I am returning to life in a grim prison because I thought more of my honor than of my freedom." A high Honduran official, she added, had offered her freedom and safety if she would consent to become the mistress of the palatial mansion. She told him that she would rather be in a prison cell in America. The "tiger woman" is confident of proving her innocence.

Senator William H. King

Some ironical individuals will say it is needed, but Senator William H. King, Democrat, of Utah, had a different idea in mind in announcing a "Summer School" for members of Congress, in Russia, in July. King, with Senator Ladd, Republican, of North Dakota, and Representative Frear, Repubican, of Wisconsin, will leave in anoher six weeks to open the school, the object of which is to obtain first-hand information on the Soviet method of government and business. All other Senators and Congressmen have been invited to enroll.

SAMSONVILLE.

Samsonville, May 31.—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Palen of Montgomery spent a few days last week at their bungalow.

Mrs. W. G. Moore visited Mrs. Bevier on Friday last.

The meeting at the church on Sunday evening was quite well attended. Sunday, June 3rd the service will be in the afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Mellissa Krom of West Shokan visited her niece, Mrs. E. Palen.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Shultis and children, Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Shultis and children of Wittenberg called at Horace Myers's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Every and Mitchell and Mrs. Van Kleeck spent Memorial Day at Krumville Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Davis made a trip on Saturday to Kingston and Tillson.

Mrs. Bevier and Daisy Myers visited Kingston on Monday.

Planting corn and making gardens are keeping people here pretty busy.

Mitchell Every has a job waiting for him as soon as planting is over.

Miss Harris, the school teacher, has been spending the week here with friends before returning to her home.

An entertainment will be held on June 7th; particulars later.

OUR DAILY PATTERN

4339

A Pretty House Frock In Slip On Style.

4334. Green and white plaid gingham with facings of white linen would be attractive for this model. It is a dress for service or for porch wear, and suitable for slender or mature figures.

The Pattern is cut in 4 Sizes: Small, 34-36; Medium, 38-40; Large, 42-44; Extra Large, 46-48 inches bust measure. A Medium size requires 4¾ yards of 36 inch material. The width at the foot is 2½ yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipts of 12 cents in coin or stamps by The Freeman Pattern Department, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps for our up-to-date spring and summer catalogue, containing 550 designs of Ladies' and Misses' and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensome points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various, simple sive articles on dressmaking also stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

TABASCO HEIGHTS.

Tabasco Heights, May 31.—Those who called at Asa Wynkoop's on Sunday evening were Arlington Brown of Leibhardt, Mr. and Mrs. David Burgher and son Harold, Lester and Esther Wynkoop of Kerhonkson and Russell Palen of Tongore.

People here extend sympathy to Lorenzo and Judson Decker of this place in the loss of their sister, Mrs. William Simpson.

Miss Rose Gould returned to New York Monday for a week and will return Sunday to spend the summer with her parents here on the farm they recently purchased of Harry Wiltzky.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Coddington of St. Josen upon the birth of a daughter. Mrs. Coddington is staying with her mother, Mrs. Gertrude L. Wells at the home of Henry Krom. Mother and child are doing nicely.

School will close June 14 after a successful year under the management of C. J. Anderson of Harmonon-Hudson.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Decker and son Vaughn, Jr., spent Sunday last with his parents here. They also called on her brother Asa Wynkoop and family.

Miss Ida Bluming has returned home from the city where she has spent the winter and spring. People here are glad to see Ida looking so good.

HIGH WOODS.

High Woods, May 31.—Mrs. Lyman Carle has returned home from Kingston after spending a few days here with Mrs. Lucy Van Aken.

Mr and Mrs. George R. Felten of West Camp called on his mother, Mrs Amanda Felten, last week. Mrs Felten is recovering from the grip, which confined her to bed for a few days.

Will Van Bramer, Henry A. Wilcus and Kenneth H. Snyder were fishing in Ashokan reservoir last week and brought home a large mess.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Van Gasbeek of Saugerties spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Wilson Ackerman.

Dora A. Snyder spent Saturday with Mrs. Arthur Lamb in Saugerties, who had the misfortune to fall down stairs and break a bone in her foot.

The Rev. J. B. Steketee of Kingston will be with us next Sunday to observe the Lord's Supper. He is classical pastor of Ulster Classis. Mrs. Richards of Saugerties has been here the past two Sundays.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hansen and son of Waterbury, Conn., spent the latter part of last week at David Vaughn's.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Akerman, Mary J. Carle and Mrs. Alex Felten were callers in West Saugerties on Mrs. William Egner, Mrs. John Schalk and her daughter, Mrs. Keiley, and Mrs. Stephen Cordes last Saturday afternoon.

Henry A. Wilcus began daily trips between this place and Saugerties Man 28. He has opened his store also. People here wish him success in both lines of business.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Longendyke and Mrs. Newton Crapser of Saugerties, Addison and Anna Herrick of Pine Grove and Irving Lasher of Bearsville attended church service Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Crapser also called on her aunt, Mrs. Amanda Felten.

And That's Our Job.

Faith may move mountains, but it takes work to tunnel them.—Boston Evening Transcript.

PUBLIC LANDS FOR VETERANS

578,000 Acres Available for Homesteads for Soldiers.

GIVEN CREDIT FOR SERVICE

More than 678,000 acres of public lands have been thrown open for veterans of the World war by the Department of the Interior and other thousands of acres soon will be added. In all instances the man who fought will have preference in the selection of the best acres of these great domains. He can deduct from the legal period of three years necessary to prove a homestead title the time he served with the colors. In other words, the man who fought two years can prove his title in twelve months.

The public domain is diminishing at the rate of 10,000,000 acres annually, the unreserved acreage under federal control now being estimated at about 182,000,000 acres. Fifty years ago this federal-owned land exceeded 1,160,000,000 acres. Ten years ago the total was 280,000,000. This does not include the 875,000,000 unsurveyed acres in Alaska.

Public lands recently opened to ex-service men include 400,000 acres in Emery and Grant counties, Utah, situated on the Denver and Rio Grande railway near the town of Elgin. It is a country of scenic beauty in the foothills of the Rockies. The mineral rights, including petroleum and coal, are retained by the government.

Lands in Five States.

The second withdrawal of 275,000 acres for the benefit of war veterans affects lands in five states. Of this 22,700 acres are in Idaho in Owyhee county, near the little towns of Fairylawn and Riddle. The second largest tract, 24,000 acres, is in Beaverhead county, Montana, near Lakeview. The third tract of 18,900 acres is in Eureka and Elko counties, Nevada; the fourth, of 5,500 acres, is in Rio Arriba county, New Mexico, and the fifth tract, of 4,600 acres, is in Mesa county, Colorado.

Thousands of these acres are in pastures and on other thousands the timber rights that go with them are added inducement for the soldier to try his hand at making a living in the open country.

The remaining territory upon which ex-service men may settle includes 1,393 acres in Sublet county, Wyoming, six irrigated tracts in the Newlands project of Nevada and 1,000 acres in Carbon county, Utah, the last-named tract in the Cheyenne district. Also waiting for the soldiers are two small tracts in the grazing country in Custer county, Colorado, and in the Dallas district of Oregon.

The public domain is now confined to 24 states, the largest of the domains—52,420,745 acres—being in Nevada, and the smallest acreage—2,994—in Kansas. In Utah the domain still exceeds 26,700,000 acres; in California it is above 18,300,000 acres, Wyoming 16,859,000, New Mexico 16,490,000, Arizona 13,591,000, Idaho 8,740,000, Colorado 7,951,000, Montana 5,650,000, Washington 1,194,000, Arkansas 257,800, Minnesota 254,800, South Dakota 210,000, and in Florida 104,400 acres. In the remaining states—Alabama, Kansas, Louisiana, Michigan, Mississippi, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oklahoma and Wisconsin—the public domain varies from a few thousands of acres to less than 100,000.

Soldiers Seek Public Lands.

"On the conclusion of every major war in which the United States has engaged," said Judge Edward C. Finney, the assistant secretary of the interior, "many of the soldiers have sought homes upon the public lands. At the conclusion of the Revolutionary war the Ohio valley, Kentucky and Tennessee offered attractive possibilities in this direction. At the end of the Civil war the development of the great West had just begun, and thousands of soldiers engaged in farming on the western lands or in railroad construction work and mining. The conclusion of the World war found the area of the public domain greatly reduced, but the same interest was manifested by many of the veterans.

"The soldiers of the World war, as well as soldiers of the Spanish-American, Mexican border operations, and of the Civil war, are by statute allowed credit for their service in lieu of residence upon the land, each soldier being required to reside upon his homestead entry for at least one year. The time required for proving up on a homestead entry is three years, consequently a soldier who has seen two or more years' service in any of the wars need reside upon his homestead but one year in order to establish ownership and secure possession of the land.

Proof Without Residence.

"Another advantage given soldiers of the World war who were honorably discharged or separated because of physical incapacities due to service, and who had theretofore made homestead entries, was to permit them to make proof without further residence, upon a showing that they were physically unable to return to the land. This law was passed in 1921.

"The law in which soldiers desiring to secure homes on the land, are most interested is that approved by President Harding on January 21, 1922, which gives to veterans of the World war a preference right of entry over all other citizens for 90 days to enter any public or Indian lands which are opened or restored to entry in the future. Considerable areas of public land are withdrawn for classification, included in Indian, forest and other reservations or withdrawals, and from time to time as the lands are classified, or the purpose for which the withdrawal was made has been served, these lands are restored to the public domain. On all such lands the soldiers have this preference right of entry for 90 days. The lands that are restored range in character from the valuable irrigated lands to the less valuable but larger acreages, suitable for stock raising, homestead entry and dry farming. A number of such restorations are in contemplation and will be made from time to time, of which public notice will be given through the press and at the various local land offices where the lands are subject to disposition. Information as to any specific tract of land can be had at the local land office, of which there are some ninety throughout the Western states."

GIRLS SOLD IN MARRIAGE

Gypsy Maidens Bring From $2,500 to $3,500 in Love Market.

A 1923 love market, where it is alleged four young gypsy girls were sold in marriage by their own fathers for a cash consideration of from $2,500 to $3,500 each, was revealed in statements of one of the young husbands to Sheriff Chester Conner of Wichita, Kan.

"I was told one of the girls was sold by her father for $3,500," Sheriff Conner declared. "The lowest price was $2,500."

Two gypsy girls, said to be Anna and Mary Sperro, sisters, were sold to Tom and Miller Costello, brothers, according to Sheriff Conner's information. Two sisters of the bridegrooms, Wolkey and Rosa, were also sold to the brothers of the brides whose names were given as Steve and John Sperro.

A wild celebration of the marriages brought the sheriff to the gypsy camp, four miles north of the stockyards, in the northern part of the city.

Leo Mike Mitchell, twenty-one, was taken into custody. He says he bought his bride some time ago for $2,750.

"I had $3,000 when I saw this girl six months ago in St. Louis," he told Sheriff Conner and Deputy Sheriff Criswell, in speaking of his wife. "I paid her father $2,750 cash for her, and now she won't work. She's got too many other husbands. I want to find her old man and get my money back," the husband added.

SCHOOL EXITS NOT SAFE

Lives of 90 Per Cent of School Children in Danger.

The lives of 90 per cent of the school children in the United States and Canada are not safe from fire because of inadequate school exits, according to standards submitted in the report of the committee on safety to life, before the convention of the National Fire Protection association at Chicago.

Another section of the report said that department store exits as found in present buildings throughout the country also are inadequate to provide for safe egress in time of fire and panic.

The committee, together with representatives of twenty-two state and national organizations and departments of the government, has been operating as the Building Exits Code committee of the American Engineering Standards committee. The latter committee covers proper construction and arrangement of stairways, fire escapes and other exits for all types of buildings.

"When the committee has completed its work, it will point the way toward harmonizing the requirements which now vary radically in different localities, and will show the maximum of fire safety that can be obtained at the minimum of expense," the report said.

100,000 ARE IDLE IN JAPAN

Unemployment Expected to Increase for Several Months.

Since last spring nearly twenty big factories, public and private, at Tokio, have discharged approximately 100,000 workmen, the majority of whom, according to the authorities, still are without fixed employment.

The number is to be further increased this summer with 3,000 workmen to be discharged from the Tokio and Osaka arsenals, and even a greater number from the different military, naval and other government offices and institutions.

As the business readjustment of various other industrial establishments throughout the empire still is in progress, the number of unemployed is expected to continue to rise steadily during the first half of the current year.

Staten Island, New York.

Staten Island, an island of New York, constituting the borough of Richmond, New York city, is a little more than five miles from the southern extremity of Manhattan island, and is separated from Long Island on the east by the Narrows, which connect the upper New York bay with the lower bay. The area of Staten Island is about 70 square miles.

Good Fairies Teach Health Rules To Our Boys And Girls Under Plan Of American Child Health Association

If you are the doting parent of a school boy or girl, the probability is that within a very few days you will get from him or her, the startling bit of information that he or she has not only seen a fairy but has heard her talk.

This is simply by way of warning you, in that event not to become flustered and have the child examined. It will not be an indication that he or she has seen a blur of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's pet ectoplasm. Fairies do exist and they are appearing gossamer wings and all the fixin's, in schools throughout the United States.

In this instance they are the Health Fairies, good nymphs who know all about what wise little boys and girls should eat and how they should live if they aspire to the prowess of a Babe Ruth or a Ty Cobb or in the case of the girls, to the beauty of a Mary Pickford.

The Health Fairies appear before the children and in entertaining fashion tell the story of good health. The idea originated with the Child Health Organization of America before that body merged with the American Child Hygiene Association and the two amalgamated organizations became the American Child Health Association, with Herbert Hoover as its president.

Sleep, fresh air and wholesome food are the ingredients conducive to good health and they are advocated by the fairies in language children understand. Who couldn't understand a fairy? The American Child Health Association, having originated the Health Fairy idea, has so interested local child health groups throughout the country that they now are training their own fairies to carry on their work in the schools.

The Health Education department of the American Child Health Association, under the direction of Miss Sally Lucas Jean is assisting these local groups in their work of carrying the health idea to children in entertaining manner, rather than by the scientific lecture and technical text book system formerly in use.

Health education in the schools is only one of the activities of the American Child Health Association which, with Herbert Hoover as president, has recently been formed for the protection and promotion of child health work in this country. Pre- and post-natal clinics, infant health stations, conferences for mothers, care of the pre-school child, the establishment of an accurate and scientific bureau of health information for the benefit of mothers and teachers are some of the features of their program. Among the officers are such men as Dr. L. Emmett Holt, eminent child specialist; Dr. Livingston Farrand, former chairman of the American Red Cross and now president of Cornell University; Dr. Thomas D. Wood of Columbia University; and Dr. Philip Van Ingen of New York City. Applications for membership may be made to the treasurer, Corcoran Thom, at the national headquarters, 532 Seventeenth Street, Washington, D. C. The administrative headquarters are at 370 Seventh Avenue, New York City.

AMERICANISM ON RIVER NILE

Educational Activity Reaches Natives of Many Nations.

PLANT SEEDS OF DEMOCRACY

America's influence is exerted in Europe, Asia and Africa through her educational, missionary and humanitarian institutions. In almost every country of the eastern hemisphere may be found an American school, college, hospital, mission or relief station.

The activities of these institutions in France, England, Germany, Italy, Czechoslovakia and other European countries are well known, but the splendid work of American scholastic enterprises in Constantinople, Athens, Monastir (Jugo-Slavia), Samokov (Bulgaria), Beirut, Jerusalem, Cairo and other more distant places sometimes goes unheralded.

Are Outposts of Culture.

All of these organizations may be considered as outposts of American ideals and culture. Situated in the heart of countries containing varying racial elements and sheltering groups with divergent political and religious views, they inculcate among the heterogeneous population American standards of ethics and morality, and institute a respect for the United States and the American people enjoyed by few other countries. Educational facilities in many of these lands are rudimentary, and in many cases the American schools are the only sources of modern education.

In far-off Luxor, 450 miles up the Nile river and within the shadow of Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb, is a school presided over by American teachers, where the native boys and girls are given instruction in their native tongue and in English. In Cairo is another splendid institution, under the direction of Dr Charles R Watson, where many Egyptians have obtained their first idea of American life and American aims and cultural standards.

Plant Seeds of Democracy.

Indeed, there is scarcely any habitable part of the eastern continent from North Cape to Cape Town, where the torch of American education and enlightenment has not blazed the way for a better life and a higher standard of human achievement among the minority races who have never tasted the fruits of democracy and universal education as practiced in the United States.

A few striking examples are found in the fact that in Bulgaria American tutors gave the Bulgarian people their first Bible in their own tongue. In Turkey the great Robert college, founded half a century ago by an American merchant of that name, and the Constantinople Girls' college, administered by Dr Mary Mills Patrick and a staff of American women, have exerted a powerful influence for good on the youth of nineteen different races who received their first education in those institutions At Beyrout, on the Syrian coast, are admirable American colleges where the natives receive instruction in the useful arts and in medicine, law and engineering.

TO HUNT FOR DAVID'S TOMB

Natives Assured No Sacred Jerusalem Sites Will Be Disturbed.

The recent announcement that excavations are to be made at Jerusalem in a search for David's tomb has aroused anxiety in some religious circles here, where it is feared that the work would devastate sacred sites.

The British colonial department, however, has issued a reassuring statement, asserting that the actual location of the ancient "City of David" was not on the spot mentioned by tradition. Archeologists long ago established, the statement says, that the city stood on a little triangular square of ground called Mount Ophel, south of the present Jerusalem. It is on this site, which has heretofore been of no religious interest to Christians, Jews or Mohammedans that the excavations in the search for David's tomb are to be made.

TERTIARY SKULL ONLY STONE

Supposed Patagonian Scientific Find Proves of No Value.

The supposed skull of the tertiary period found in Patagonia is simply a curiously shaped stone and of no scientific value, according to an announcement made by a committee of scientists of the Buenos Aires and La Plata museums of natural history which has carefully examined it.

The supposed skull was discovered some time ago by Prof. J. G. Wolfe of La Plata university while in Patagonia It was in the possession of a settler. Professor Wolfe accompanied by Doctor Elmer S. Riggs of the Field museum, Chicago, started for Patagonia recently to re-examine the object with the purpose of determining whether it was the skull of a human being of the tertiary period

Actress Seeks Seat in Commons.

England will have an actress as a member of the house of commons if Mabel Russell, wife of Capt. Hilton Philipson, is successful in her campaign. Her husband, a conservative, lost his seat because of irregularities by his election agent, and she has made known her determination to keep the parliamentary seat in the family.

Easily Explained.

The vaudeville performer had done that old trick of striking a match on his partner's beard "Now, how did he do that?" said a girl in the audience to her escort. "Oh, that's dead easy," he answered lightly; "you see the other fellow's whiskers are sandy."

U. S. FARM OUTLOOK IS BEST IN THREE YEARS

Federal Department of Agriculture Sees Improvement in Domestic Markets.

The agricultural prospect now is probably the best it has been in three years, the Department of Agriculture announced in its monthly review. The outlook for next fall and winter is considered to depend upon continuation of the present industrial boom in cities.

The domestic market for farm products is reported to have improved measurably as a result of increased prosperity in urban communities, the review said, but the prospective foreign demand for American farm products is not so good as it was a year ago

"When labor is fully employed and wages high," the review continued, "farm products find a readier sale and better prices. This is what helped to sustain the price of hogs this spring; likewise lambs, cattle, dairy products, eggs and certain vegetables.

"Labor is being drawn from the farms to urban centers, but there is as yet little evidence of serious farm labor handicap The pinch is expected to come at harvest time, should the movement continue Spring planting generally is reported from two to three weeks behind but the reported trend is toward increased production of cotton, sheep and possibly corn and decreased production of wheat, hogs and potatoes.

"Prices of leading crops show a continued upward trend, but the general level of live stock prices is reported as stationary or tending to move slightly downward. Prices of commodities that farmers buy also show a continued upward trend, so that the relative purchasing power of a unit of farm products remains unchanged."

WEATHER PROPHET CLIMBS MORE THAN 4,000 MILES

Norman B Sanson, who has been in charge of the weather bureau in the heart of the Canadian Rockies for more than thirty years, and who has just completed his seven hundredth ascent to the summit of Sulphur mountain, where his weather recording instruments are located. Sanson makes his trip every two weeks The combined altitudes of these many ascents total 85 times higher than Mt. Everest. Sanson has expressed a wish that his epitaph be recorded as "Gone Higher."

JAZZ CONVERTS HEATHEN

Sacred Words Set to Popular Music Have Strong Appeal.

Ragtime and "jazz" may be working to the detriment of young America, but their syncopated strains are winning converts to Christian ideals in Timbuctoo, Tibet and Tahiti, according to Paul Rader of Chicago, evangelist and president of the Christian and Missionary alliance.

"American jazz music is used by our more than 100 missionaries to attract the attention of and assemble the most savage people in our fields to evangelistic services," Mr. Rader said. "Our missionaries carry no arms, but through musical instruments and their voices raised in song and prayer ply their work of converting the heathen Sacred words are put to modern jazz songs, noble thoughts to popular tunes, and then sung with a spirit that attracts the black, yellow and brown races.

"All sorts of hymns are sung, but we find that the rhythm of ragtime tunes delights the simple mind of the savage, and appeals to his tom-tom trained mind, and the first thing the missionary knows the wild man is singing Christian words, learning white religious theology and presently is converted."

GERMAN SHIP YARDS BUSY

Great Activity Prevails at All the Nation's Great Ports.

Marine activity is the rule at all of Germany's ports Hamburg, Bremen, Bremenhaven, Emden, Lubeck, Stettin and Kiel all show large gains in tonnage cleared, and helped by government subsidies German ship yards are buying second-hand vessels cheap abroad and patching them up

Some ports report 90 per cent of the tonnage cleared in 1913, and virtually all the old-world routes of German steamship lines are now re-established.

The name of Mrs. Mira R T. Talbert, New York society woman, has been linked with that of James A. Stillman, banker, in society gossip as that of the "second Mrs. Stillman." Mrs. Talbert has shown a striking similarity in appearance and manner to Mrs Anne U Stillman, and this has recalled the latter's prophecy that "if Mr. Stillman ever is free to marry again you will find him paying court to a woman possessing the qualities of the wife he sought to destroy." Mrs Talbert is the widow of Joseph Truitt Talbert, banker and friend of Stillman.

DEAD LANGUAGES BACK

ench Minister Stirs Protests by Or- ring Study of Latin and Greek.

By a decree published in the French cial journal, Latin and Greek again e been made compulsory in French ols, but the decision taken by Berard, minister of public in- ction, is not likely to go unchal- ed. Discussion as to whether the d languages again should take their e in French education has been go- on for two years, and the minis- thought it was time it came to end. So he decided to carry ough his reform by decree. Al- dy his action has called forth a et from his namesake, Victor rd, president of the senatorial mission on education, and from y Herriot, who has cabled an in- pellation in the chamber.

The fight which now seems likely to velop is no longer whether the ench boys should be taught Latin d Greek instead of science and mod- languages, but whether the minis- has the right to impose such an portant measure by decree over the ds of the senate.

ACCORD.

Accord, May 31.—On Sunday morning, June 3, the Lord's Supper will be observed by the Reformed Church. The Rev. Braam's subject will be "Communion, a Memorial Day."

The Far and Near Society will meet at the Reformed Church parsonage on Saturday, June 2, at 2:30 o'clock. Edsel Osterhoudt will lead the meeting.

The Rev. J. B. Steketee of Kingston called in Lyonsville and Krumville on Tuesday, later stopping at the Reformed Church parsonage with the Rev. and Mrs. L. M. Braam.

The Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence French of New Brunswick, N. J., formerly of Hurley, were guests on Friday and Saturday at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. L. M. Braam.

On Saturday evening, June 2, there will be a meeting at the Mettacahonts Hall in the interests of the town of Rochester Sunday school convention. All Sunday schools of the town of Rochester should be represented at this business meeting. All who are interested in Sunday school work are invited.

"All a Mistake." Friday evening by High Falls talent at Accord I. O. O. F. Hall. Cake and ice cream. Proceeds for Rochester Reformed Church.

"KID" GLEASON AND COACH WALSH

"Kid" Gleason of the White Sox and Ed Walsh, former White Sox star pitcher of nearly a score of years ago, hope to help make the team a pennant winner for owner Comiskey this year.

Inside Baseball as Played by Orioles

"Inside baseball" has had a lot of publicity since the game took a firm foothold in the affections of the American public.

The Baltimore Orioles, the wonder team that developed McGraw and Robinson and Jennings into the leading strategists of the present, thoroughly believed in the "inside" game, but a lot of their stuff looked like ordinary trickery to modern eyes.

For instance:

The Giants were playing a closely contested game in Baltimore. In one of the late innings Hughey Jennings hit a sharp bounder to Ely, the New York shortstop, who threw wildly to first base.

In those days the clubhouse of the old Union park grounds in Baltimore was situated directly behind first. Tom Murphy, the Baltimore groundkeeper, was watching the game at the open door.

He saw the ball come rolling toward him. He allowed it to roll into the locker room and then slammed the door and locked it. Roger Connor, the Giants' first sacker, swearing like a trooper, tried to tear the door down, while Jennings raced around the bases and scored the deciding run.

"That was inside ball," said McGraw, in recounting the story, "but just try to get away with anything like that in these calm and effete days!"

Coach Spike Webb

Spike Webb, boxing coach of the United States Naval academy, which defeated the University of Pennsylvania for the intercollegiate championship of America, after going through a season without a defeat. Webb coached the American Olympic team winners at Antwerp, Belgium, in 1920.

John McGraw Would Take Ball Team to Far East

J. J. McGraw, manager of the world's champion New York Giants, has laid plans for taking a baseball team to Australia and New Zealand either late this year or in 1924. B. J. Kortland of Sydney, N. S. W., proposed such a trip to the Giant leader, who expressed enthusiasm at the project. It is probable that the team selected will also play in Japan, Hawaii and the Philippine islands.

Willie Ritola Seeking His Citizenship Papers

Willie Ritola, the famous runner of New York, came to the United States from Finland in 1914. He started running in 1919. He received his first citizenship papers a year ago, and should receive his final papers next April. He will then be eligible to carry the American shield in the Paris Olympic games.

Rule for Courtesy.

If a man accosts you and talks to you ever so dully or frivolously, it is worse than rudeness, it is brutality to show him, by a manifest inattention to what he says, that you think him a fool or a blockhead and not worth hearing.—Chesterfield.

CONSIDER BACKSTOP IMPORTANT PLAYER

By Keeping Cool He Becomes Great Steadying Influence on the Pitcher.

(By CARL LUNDGREN, Baseball Coach, University of Illinois.)

The catcher is one of the most important players on the team. He should be a cool, alert individual, always ready to pick out any weakness that the other team discloses in its batting, and always ready to take advantage of these weaknesses. If he can remain calm and collected through the worst batting rallies that his opponent may start, he becomes a great steadying influence on the pitcher. On the other hand, if he gets excited and loses his head, he will become a great hindrance to the team's success.

The catcher should be able at all times to handle thrown or pitched balls without dropping or fumbling. He should never allow himself, whether in a game or during practice, get into the habit of dropping the ball.

Many catchers keep their hands in a continual state of pain by carelessness in the position in which they hold their hands when receiving a ball. The fingers should be held close together and pointing either upward or downward. In other words, if your hands were planes, the surfaces should be parallel to the course of the ball coming toward you or very nearly so, and never perpendicular to it if possible to avoid it. This method of handling your hands will save many injuries to your fingers and will also enable you to handle the ball easier and cleaner.

The position the catcher takes behind the plate is very important. He should stand directly behind the plate, as closely as possible to the batter without likelihood of being hit by the bat or interfering with the batter. His feet and legs should be placed comfortably under him, and should not be spread too far apart or kept too close together. The left foot should be placed a little in advance of the right foot which brings you that much closer to your shifted or throwing position. Try to keep your body behind all pitched balls if possible unless so doing you place yourself in a position where the batter will interfere with your throwing. In such cases the ball must be caught and brought out or away from the batter in order to make throwing easier. In going after wild pitches to the right, move your right foot out far enough that you will retain your balance. For wild throws to the left side, move the left foot out.

Squat only enough to be able to carry your mitt comfortable at about the batter's waist from which position you can change the fastest to catch either a high or low pitched ball.

OLD DAYS LIVE IN MEMORY

Cowpuncher Recalls Ancient Times When He Revisits the Trails That He Used to Ride.

There's a scope of country that stretches hundreds of miles north and south of the Santa Fe. The tourists when they go through it pull down their windows for fear of the dust. You can hear 'em say, "What an awful country it is; how desolate and destitute of life; a person would surely die of loneliness living in such a dreadful place," etc. Well—that's where I'm headed for, if I don't get my throat cut by barb wire before I get there. The water-holes are 40 miles apart and maybe dry when you get to 'em. You'd be surprised, but there's cattle there and no fences. Fact is, the country ain't worth fencing. The only gate is on the corral by the spring. When you get out of it on your crow-hopping bronc you're free to go whichever way you please. The old trails are the same there, and I can spread my loop without getting it caught in a fence post. It's a place where nesters never stop and sheep can't live.

Some folks call it the country God forgot, but I thinks different.

As I'm setting upon this little knoll, taking a last look at the country where I'd put in so many hard rides, a little coyote ambles up the side of the hill, sees me and stops, starts to run some more, then somehow feels that I'm harmless and stops again. I see him limping and notice a trap kept one of his paws. He, too, has been crowded a heap, and somehow I have more admiration for him than I used to. I'd like to let him know we're no enemies no more.

The sun is going down as I straddle my horse and head south for an all-night ride. It's most dark before I look back. I can see the outline of the river breaks I know so well, and not so far behind I can hear the Yip! Yip! of the little old three-legged coyote—he's follering!—Will James in Scribner's.

Captain Roald Amundsen, foremost of polar explorers, is almost ready to "take off" from Nome, Alaska, from the seamship Maud (shown hemmed in by ice), in his attempt to chart by airplane the regions between man's "farthest North" and the North Pole. LONDON VALUE IS HIGHEST Westminster Leads 28 Parishes and Unions on Assessment List.

The new valuation lists for London, England, show that for the purposes of local taxes real estate is listed at £49,336,345.

Of the 28 parishes and unions into which London is divided the richest is Westminster, with a taxable value of £8,007,076, and the poorest is St. George's-in-the-East, with a value of £211,668. The city of London comes second with a value of £6,396,082.

Waited Nineteen Hours for Room.

Ray L. Roumtree of Dallas, student in Rice institute, Houston, Tex., claims to have established a record recently when he stood in line at the bursar's office for 19 hours waiting to be assigned a room in the Rice dormitory for men. Roumtree wanted first choice of rooms and was first in line when selections were made.

TRAINED EYE READS RAPIDLY

Art Attained by Practice, Though the Brain Must Be Alert to Grasp Meaning of Words.

How many words do you read in a minute, dealing with ordinary, clear printing? The answer should be something between 300 and 330, the average, taken over a large number of cases being almost exactly 330.

As a rule, those who fall much below the average do so because of the manner in which they read; they form each word with their mouths as they proceed, and in such cases the figure rarely exceeds 200 words a minute.

On the other hand, those whose occupations entail a large amount of reading, such as members of editorial staffs, book reviewers, readers to the press, and so on, can often read up to 500 words a minute, or a 80,000 word story in an hour!

And not only can they read at that speed; but every salient fact in the matter being perused is thoroughly assorbed.

Typewritten matter can rarely be read at more than about 250 words a minute, owing to the greater distance the eye has to travel, while with even the clearest handwriting a minute is occupied in reading at the most 300 words.

The art of reading quickly is attained by the practice which enables the eye to recognize a word by the information more than by the actual letters it contains.

But to be able to read quickly is not of great use by itself; the brain must be sufficiently alert to grasp fully the meaning of every one of the words read.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 1.—Irregularity marked trading at the opening of the stock market today. Fractional declines were registered by the majority of stocks.

Dull and irregular price movements characterized the forenoon trading on the Stock Exchange. Losses of about 1 point were registered throughout the list.

Bears renewed their activities in the afternoon trading forcing stocks downward until losses of from 2 to 3 points were established.

Society Notes

Druckreier-Ricketson.

Miss Alice Ricketson of Saugerties, and Henry Druckreier, formerly of Whitesboro, N. Y., were married in the parsonage of the M. E. Church, Vernon, N. Y., Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. S. W. Brown performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. David Crampton, sister and brother-in-law of the bridegroom were the attending couple. After a wedding dinner at the Hotel Utica, the newly married couple left for a short trip, and on their return will reside at No. 5 Russell street, Saugerties. The bride, who is a daughter of Mrs. Minnie Ricketson, and her husband will receive the congratulations of their friends.—Saugerties Post.

Fronefield-Hoffman.

St. John's Episcopal Church, Wall street, was the scene of a beautiful June wedding at high noon today when Miss Hilda Helena Hoffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman of 107 South Manor avenue, this city, became the bride of Arthur Everson Fronefield. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John J. Bott, rector of Christ Church, Yonkers, formerly rector of the Church of the Holy Spirit, Kingston, and at one time assistant to Grace P. E. Church, Jamaica, Long Island, the former home of the bride. The church was handsomely decorated with palms and white carnations. The bridal party entered the church to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by the organist, J. Clarendon McClure, who also played Mendelssohn's Wedding March at the close of the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by her father, was charming indeed in a gown of pearl gray Canton crepe, and wore a hat to match. She carried bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The bride was attended by Miss Edna M. Simonson of Jamaica, Long Island, who as maid of honor wore a costume of mauve Canton crepe and hat to match and carried Ophelia roses. The best man was Charles H. Hoffman, brother of the bride. The bride's gift to the maid of honor was a platinum bar pin, while the groom presented the best man with gold cuff links. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served the bridal party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman, which was prettily decorated with pink carnations and white lilacs. During the early afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Fronefield left for a wedding trip that will include some time spent in Washington and Baltimore. The bride, who for the past four years has been the efficient and popular bookkeeper in the office of the Kingston Daily Freeman, and the groom who is connected with the Prudential Insurance Company, have a wide circle of friends who wish them all possible happiness in their married life

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Ellis Wolven, one of the best known residents of Woodstock, died Saturday, May 26, following a long illness. He was born in the town of Saugerties, August 31, 1855, going when a boy to Woodstock with his father, the late William H. Wolven, where he bought the farm which has since been his home. Mr. Wolven is survived by one daughter, Mabel A. Wolven, who has been keeping house for him since the death of his wife several years ago. Also one sister, Mrs. William D. Snyder, of Saugerties. The funeral was held from his late residence on Thursday. The interment was in the Woodstock Cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret L. Strobel, who died last Monday morning, was held from her late home, 108 McEntee street, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 and was very largely attended by her relatives and friends. The floral tributes were profuse and beautiful, silent testimonials of the high esteem in which she was held by all who knew her. The services were in charge of the Rev. William Nelson, pastor of the Church of the Redeemer, where the deceased had always been a devoted and conscientious worker. The bearers were members of the family and the interment was in the family plot in Montrepose Cemetery.

Joseph Van Etten, night yardmaster of the Ulster & Delaware railroad, died this morning at his home in Port Ewen after a brief illness. Besides his wife he is survived by two children, Ethel and Ferna, also his mother, Mrs. Julia Van Etten, two brothers Charles and Newton Van Etten and one sister, Mrs. William Millham, all of this city. He was a member of the Wurts Street Baptist Church, where he was a faithful worker. He was held in high esteem by all who knew him. He was also a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. The funeral will be held from his late home in Port Ewen Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

Mrs. Anna H. DuMond died Wednesday afternoon at Dr. Sahler's Sanitarium where she had been a patient for some weeks after a decline in health during several months preceding. The deceased, widow of the late George W. DuMond, had long resided in Kingston. She was a member of the First Dutch Church, a daughter of Andrew D. W. Hardenbergh, her ancestry dated back to the earliest days in this section. By nature kind and generous, her happy and hopeful disposition won her a large circle of friends. Mrs. DuMond was possessed of great vitality and indomitable courage, and retained her fortitude to the last. Her loss will be distinctly felt in the community. She leaves three sisters, Mrs. M. J. Russell, of Greenwich, N. Y.; Mrs. R. H. Brodhead, formerly of Kingston, and Mrs. N. LeFever, of Ellenville, a twin sister; also a brother, John J. Hardenbergh, of Richmond Hill, Long Island. The funeral services will be held on Saturday morning at eleven o'clock in the chapel of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street, in charge of her pastor, the Rev. Lucas Boeve. Interment in Fantinekill Cemetery, Ellenville, N. Y., with short service at the grave conducted by the Rev. C. M. Sciple.

Ended Friendship.

I was ten and he was twelve. One day we were playing hide and seek and another friend of ours was "it." As there were four playing in the party three of us were to hide. I thought he would escort me to a hiding place. I was fooled. He took my chum and left me behind. Our friendship was indeed broken forever. —Chicago Journal.

Happy Prospect for Hubby!

That one of the latest theories put forward by doctors is that new clothes are better than medicine to restore health. One can imagine how carefully a man would look after his wife's health, with the prospect of prescriptions of new jumpers, fur coats and strings of pearls in front of him every time she is suffering from a tiny ailment!—Exchange.

Fallacy of "Schools."

Let realists, if they desire, still insist that all is prose, and the idealists that all is poetry. To the latter will come a rainy day, and the former will have their days of sunshine. In each of the arts the privileged few are the victors, and those follow their own paths; like old fashions, this talk about "schools" will vanish in time.—George Sand.

Babe Ruth States He Made Pruett Pitcher

Babe Ruth still retains a sense of humor despite the poor season he had last summer. Recently, when asked what pitchers in the American league were hardest to hit, he replied in all seriousness:

"All of them."

Pressed for his opinion as to the hardest pitcher to hit, Babe didn't take long to answer.

"That guy, Pruett of St. Louis, has my number. I never even made a respectable foul off him. First base and I were total strangers when he pitched for the Browns.

"Say, I got a sore back, swinging and missing. If all the pitchers were like him, I could stay right on the farm as far as getting base hits.

"That bird is deadly poison for me. He has three kinds of slow balls and five or six kinds of dinky curves. He gets a fellow's nerve.

"I made a great pitcher out of that kid last season," concluded the interview with Babe.

Bentley Valuable at First or as Pitcher

Jack Bentley's batting and pitching averages for last season make it a difficult matter for a manager to decide whether the big fellow is more valuable as a first baseman and hitting them hard and often or as a pitching star. This has been quite a puzzle to Jack Dunn, manager of the Baltimore Orioles.

Bentley took part in 153 games last season, during most of which he acted as first base guardian. He was 619 times at bat, scored 109 runs, made 216 hits (of which 22 were home runs), for a .349 average. He stole six bases and ranked third in the unofficial batting league averages compiled for the International league. As a pitcher he turned in 13 victories and suffered only one defeat; Rochester administered this lone defeat.

In 1921 Bentley ranked third in the International league averages with percentage of .371.
